

Can play the game on the website address bar, have you tried it?

Outrunning Space is a simple game played right on the browser address bar, developed by drludos developer.

Most of us have played games on computers, browsers or even Google search frameworks, but playing games on the website address bar is certainly not known and experienced.

Outrunning Space is a simple game played right on the browser address bar, developed by drludos developer. This game has a similar gameplay to Google's 'Dropdown dinosaur' game. Players in the role of the X will have to jump over o-shaped obstacles to earn points. You will be pushed to the left if you touch the o and when you touch the # sign is game over.

The developer only takes about 2 hours and 30 minutes to develop this unique game.

Note: Your browsing history will increase significantly when playing Outrunning Space game. Therefore, you should use incognito mode to play.

Go to the address below, press the Space key on the keyboard and start the Outrunning Space game experience:
