

CES 2020 is hotter than ever with the first appearance of Apple, Amazon and Google

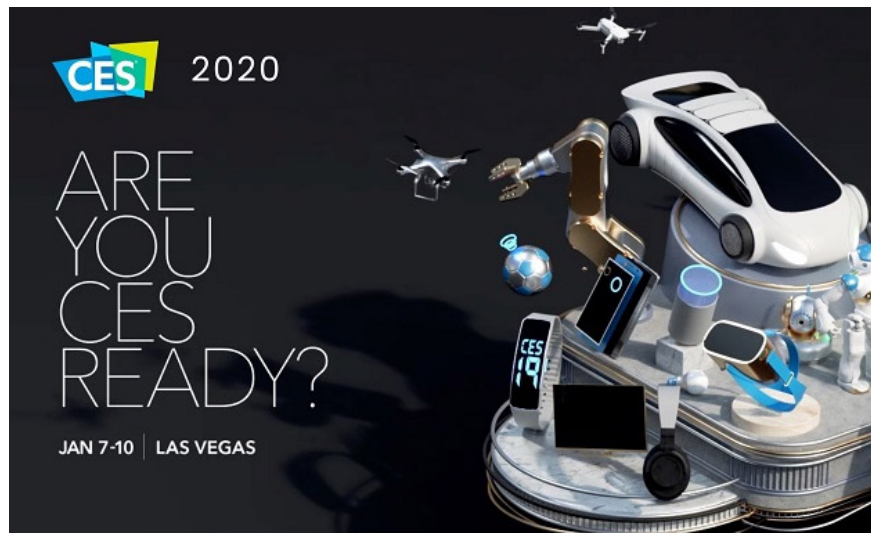

CES (Consumer Electronics Show) - The Consumer Electronics Show - is one of the world's most important annual events.

CES (Consumer Electronics Show) - The Consumer Electronics Show - is one of the world's most important annual events. On average, CES will welcome approximately 182,000 visitors each year, along with more than 4,400 technology companies from around the world displaying and introducing key products next year. In addition, there will be more than 200 sideline conferences to discuss the latest issues across the entire technology industry. However, many people think that CES is not really complete because of the absence of three leading names in the field of contemporary technology, Apple, Amazon and Google.

These companies tend to organize their own major tech events to attract more attention, but this may change as both Apple, Amazon and Google are likely to have their first contributions. present at CES this year.

According to observers, the possibility of Apple, Amazon and Google participating in CES 2020 is very large, but they will not introduce many important hardware products at the event, but will instead be software. , application or service planned in advance.

Amazon and Google will take advantage of CES to promote the promotion of existing smart digital assistant technology through their own internet-connected gadgets, and similar products manufactured by other companies. . The two tech giants are likely to launch some new soft products, as well as share statistics showing the size and influence of their AI assistant platforms on existing technology. Great.

As for Apple, as one of the largest technology companies in the world, they of course cannot let their 'pitch' take place mediocre. The focus of Apple defects at CES this year will be HomeKit, along with some new smart home gadgets compatible with Siri virtual assistant. Security gadgets are also something Apple will re-focus on this year, with keynote from security chief Jane Horvath scheduled for January 7.

CES 2020 will take place from January 7, 2020 to January 10, 2020 in Las Vegas, USA. Quantrimang will update the most interesting information about this important technology event, welcome to read!

You finished reading the article "CES 2020 is hotter than ever with the first appearance of Apple, Amazon and Google" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.