Through a special structure, the Red Switch mechanical keyboard has quite high sensitivity and smoothness, while minimizing it so you can use it in the library and at work. This product is especially suitable for those who are office workers or gamers.

However, sometimes the Red Switch mechanical keyboard also brings some troubles. That is, it may be difficult for you to know whether you have hit the right key or not because the feeling of typing is too gentle. In addition, after long-term use, this keyboard will have a 'double-click' phenomenon similar to a mouse.

However, this will still be a great choice for those who feel uncomfortable or afraid of others being affected by the typing sound emitted from regular mechanical keyboards.
