

Childhood is true when there is no smartphone, right?

Childhood is true when there is no smartphone, right? Let's see through 25+ old vintage photos before smart phones are invented!

Childhood is true when there is no smartphone, right? Let's see through 25+ old vintage photos before smart phones are invented!

1. Look back at the 9 photos of "ducking swans" of the phone after 80 years
2. Research shows that just getting a smartphone close by can make you "stupid".
3. How to use your phone without ruining your physique?

In today's modern life, it is not difficult for us to see images of children clinging to technology in search of joy. But behind those joys, they lost their innocent childhood. Of course, we cannot deny that today's era is the technological age. Everywhere are electronics, from cheap to expensive. The human unseen can now be said to be a mobile phone. Personal information is stored on the server, electronic services, online shopping, all kinds of services for human needs.

Now parents often love their children in a different way. They are afraid of enough things: afraid of children going out to play will be in an accident, afraid of dirty children, afraid of going out to meet bad friends will be bullied and afraid of being abducted by bad people So the best solution they think of is to get the kids an iPad, iPhone, computer and then they'll stick to it all day. Safe and bothersome.

Therefore, children today can feel this is unbelievable but it is a really fun time when smartphones never exist. How often do the old children entertain? It's hard to imagine the scenario today when children lack funny games, cats, . on smartphones.

In fact, everything is fine. Try browsing through vintage photos of old children before smart phones were invented. Bored Panda has synthesized extremely realistic images, this list is an important reminder that all you really need is to enjoy life. Please watch it!

A little girl is playing for her "friend"

The children of Manchester are frolicking on swings hanging on the roadside lanterns in 1946

The children are playing "rolling beans" on the streets of London in 1938

Two children are playing with their "best friend"

A young girl is performing in front of her teddy bear in Paris in 1961

The young dancers are practicing on New York streets in the 1940s

The father lifted the child up high to feed the giraffe in the 1950s

Three children are fishing in New York street in 1930

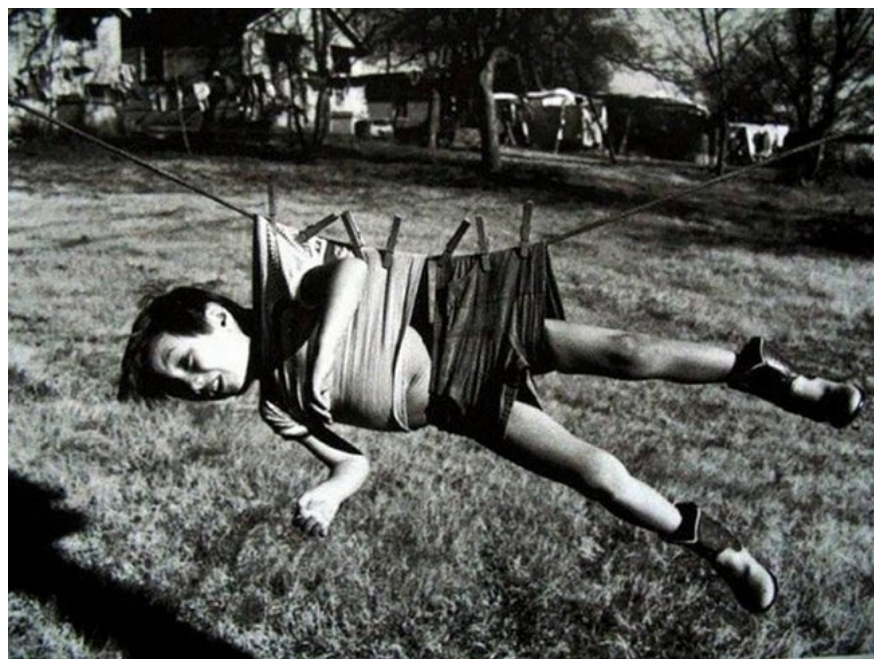

Play seesaw .

Two children are playing football on the streets of London

A child was suspended from clothes in Paris

Children are using chalk to paint on the field at Manchester in 1966

Children are dancing in New York in 1964

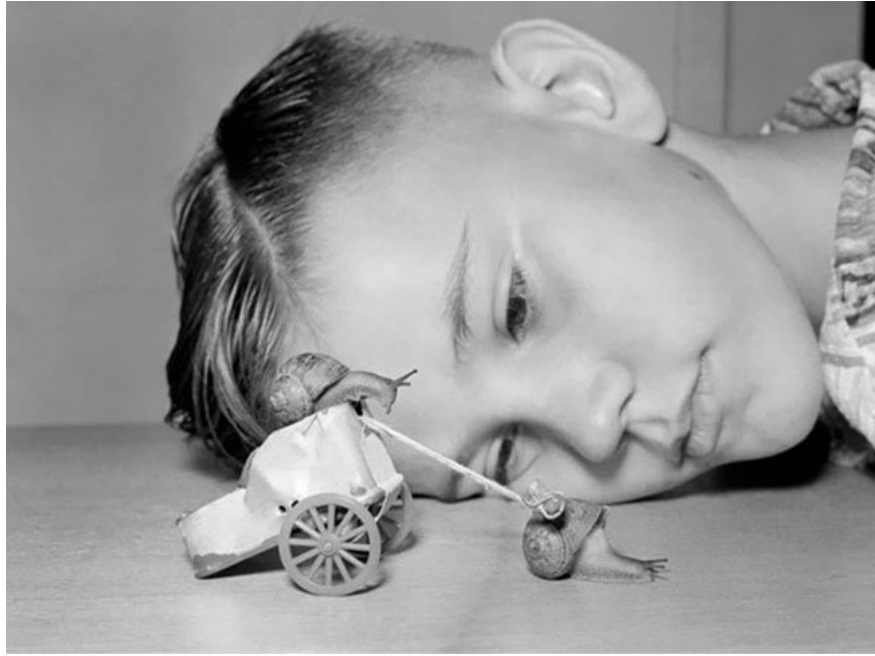

Two boys are standing reading street comics in 1952

"Get into the rain"

10-year-old Martin Witter is observing two snails at home in Lynwood, California in 1954

She danced with the children on St. Patrick's Day, Ireland in 1964

The children played drop paper boats in Paris in 1950

Play ballpoint shooting in Missouri in 1940

The children played under the Eiffel Tower in Paris

Japan, 1958

Fishing in Victoria Park, London in 1953

Leveling on the track in Dakota in 1959

Children play with paper boxes

See also: 13 extremely useful mobile applications that make life easier

Having fun!

You finished reading the article "Childhood is true when there is no smartphone, right?" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

