A cobra that stuck its head in a beer can suddenly come back when it was trying to escape on the road in India.

The video shot on Monday showed the poisonous snake crawling on a dirt road near the town of Burhanpur, Madhya Pradesh, India.

This cobra has stuck its head in a can of beer. It may have tried to find a way to get inside to search for food, but then it couldn't escape.

The back of this video shows that the cobra still crawls on the road in a stuck position with no way out. Witnesses cannot help because it is an extremely poisonous cobra.

It is not clear how this fate of the poor snake is then? Is it free to get out of a can of beer?
