

Configure Microsoft Flight Simulator 2024 PC

Microsoft Flight Simulator 2024 will be the next standalone version in the popular flight simulation game series

The great news is that the game is scheduled to release later this year.

Like the first version released in 2020, players can experience testing many different types of aircraft in realistic and interesting settings. Additionally, there will be updates to aircraft, avionics, cities, and many other regions around the world. Due to many upgrades compared to the previous version, the configuration will be a question for many people.

Minimum configuration Microsoft Flight Simulator 2024 PC

Please note that the configuration below is only a prediction based on the graphics of Microsoft Flight Simulator 2024.

1. CPU: Intel Core i5 12400F or AMD Ryzen 5 5600X or higher.
2. RAM: 16 GB.
3. Graphics card: Radeon RX 5600 XT or GeForce GTX 1660 or higher
4. Operating system: Windows 10 64-bit.
5. Free hard drive space: 200 GB.

Recommended configuration of Microsoft Flight Simulator 2024 PC

1. CPU: Intel Core I7 13700K or AMD Ryzen 7 7800X or higher.
2. RAM: 16 GB.

3. Graphics card: Radeon RX 6600 XT or GeForce RTX 3050 or higher
4. Operating system: Windows 10 64-bit.
5. Free hard drive space: 200 GB.

Thanks to the recent presentation, we now know quite a bit about Microsoft Flight Simulator 2024. However, with it being dubbed as a new step forward for the legendary franchise, the game is receiving a lot of anticipation. and promises to be one of the best simulation games. Therefore, it is no wonder that this is quickly becoming one of the upcoming games that gamers who love the Simulator genre in particular and airplane games in general are most waiting for.

You finished reading the article "Configure Microsoft Flight Simulator 2024 PC" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.