

Convert Word to PDF with Office 2013

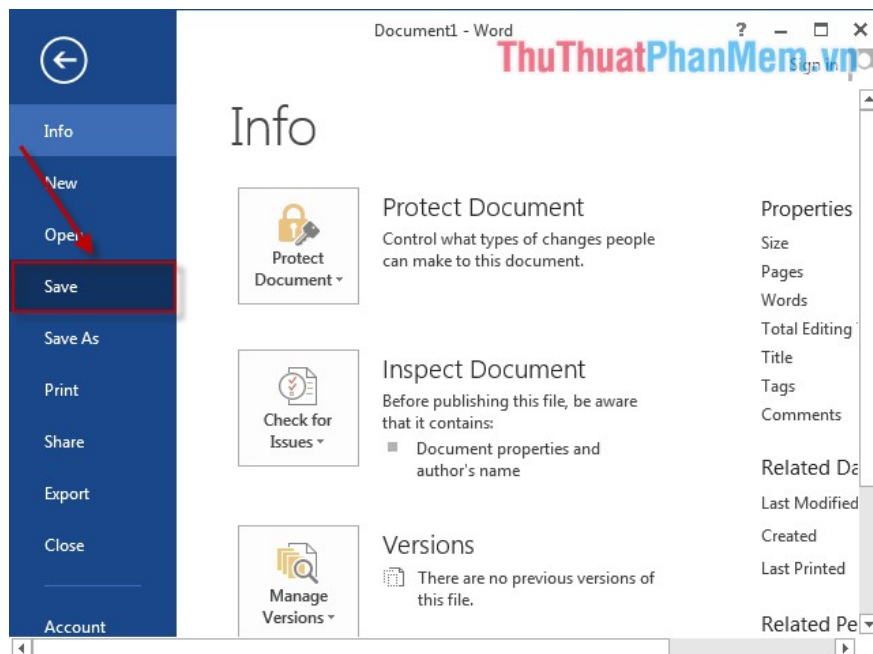

With very simple operation, without using any intermediary software, you can create PDF files on Word 2013 yourself. For example, converting .docx files to PDF using Office 2013 as follows:

With very simple operation, without using any intermediary software, you can create PDF files on Word 2013 yourself .

For example, there is a .docx file you want to convert to PDF using Office 2013:

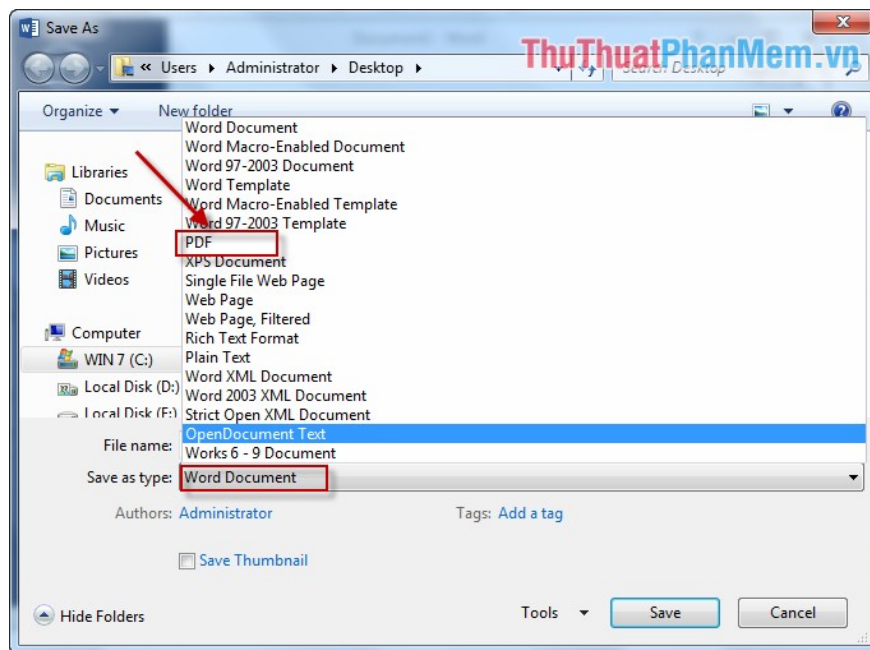

Step 1: After creating the Word file to convert to PDF click File -> Save .

In case you have saved the file in .docx format, select Save As .

Step 2: Name the file and pay attention to select the type of PDF file in the Word Document section .

Step 3: Click Options to add some options:

Step 4: A dialog box appears, select the number of printed pages:

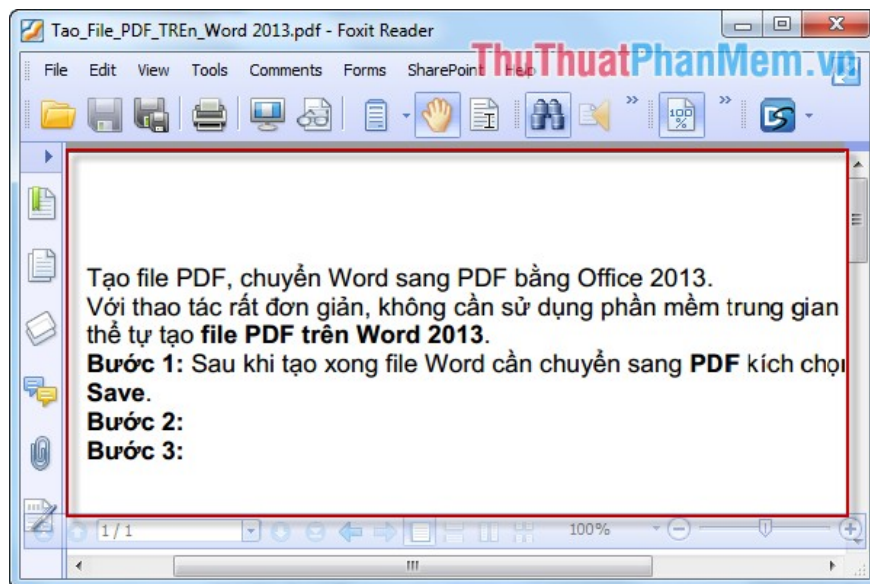

All: All pages in Word are converted to PDF.

Current Page: Moves only the page containing the mouse cursor to the PDF.

Page (s) From: Switch from page number x to page number y.

Finally, click OK and you get the following result:

Good luck!

You finished reading the article "Convert Word to PDF with Office 2013" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.