

Create an ISDN connection on Windows 2000

Instructions for installing ISDN on Windows 2000

Create an ISDN connection on Windows 2000 1 From the Start Menu select Setting and select Control Panel.

Picture 1 of Create an ISDN connection on Windows 2000

Figure 1 2 Click the Network and Dial-up Connections icon

Picture 2 of Create an ISDN connection on Windows 2000

Figure 2 3 Click on the Make a New Connection icon to start creating

Picture 3 of Create an ISDN connection on Windows 2000

Figure 3 4 Click Next to continue

Picture 4 of Create an ISDN connection on Windows 2000

Figure 4 5 Select Item Dial-Up to private network. Select Next to continue.

Picture 5 of Create an ISDN connection on Windows 2000

Figure 5 6 Enter the ISDN connection number: 1267 (ISDN service provider connection number)

Picture 6 of Create an ISDN connection on Windows 2000

Figure 6 7 In the Type the name you want . box, enter a name for the connection icon, select Finish to end the connection creation process.

Picture 7 of Create an ISDN connection on Windows 2000

Figure 7 8 After finishing the connection creation process, you will see the following icons:

Picture 8 of Create an ISDN connection on Windows 2000

Figure 8 9 To connect to the Internet, refer here _____

You finished reading the article "Create an ISDN connection on Windows 2000" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.