

Crunchyroll adds Multiple Profiles feature

Crunchyroll has attracted millions of subscribers, but still lacks an important feature, the option to create multiple profiles. After a long wait, this feature is finally here.

With Funimation merging with Crunchyroll, the anime streaming platform has become the ultimate destination for watching the latest anime. It has over 1,000 shows and movies with new anime like Solo Leveling, Kaiju No. 8, etc. are added from time to time. Crunchyroll has attracted millions of subscribers, but still lacks an important feature, the option to create multiple profiles. After a long wait, this feature is finally here.

Earlier today, Crunchyroll officially announced that the 'Multiple Profiles feature' will launch sometime later this month. Additionally, the company has also stated that this feature will only be available to Crunchyroll Premium members.

Premium members will now have the option to add up to 5 profiles in one household. Now, more users can stream their favorite anime without affecting the recommendations of others.

Along with multiple profiles, you can now also use the following features coming to the platform:

1. Users will have the option to choose their own avatar for the profile icon.
2. Additional Parental Controls will be available
3. Separate Crunchyroll selection list
4. More personalized recommendations for each profile

This is the feature Crunchyroll fans have been looking forward to the most for a long time. Finally, Crunchyroll has listened to user feedback. Finally, we can relax and stream all our favorite anime without having to worry about having to share profiles with friends.

You finished reading the article "Crunchyroll adds Multiple Profiles feature" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.