In 1922, archaeologists discovered an immensely rich, ancient city that existed 5,000 years ago in the Indian living basin. But the strange thing is that this city suddenly disappeared within a day. What terrible thing happened to this ancient city?

When excavating a site called Mohenjo Daro , according to the Indian Poem sound means " death cave, " archaeologists have discovered evidence that once existed in one area, but suddenly in a very short time, it collapsed.

Mohenjo Daro city archaeological site

They have come up with many theories about the strange disappearance of this city such as: epidemics, sandstorms . After many years of research, the real cause has been revealed and not to make scientists jerky. I and shocked the world.

Evidence shows that this 5,000-year-old city was destroyed by bombing . A terrible explosion with a radius of up to 1km makes the whole city turn to ash.

Archaeologists have discovered many human skeletons on the far side of the old city center. From the posture of the skeletons, they came to the conclusion that the people of this city were completely surprised by this deadly accident.

When assessing these skeletons, the scientists were surprised to see that they were highly radioactive beyond the amount of radioactive contamination of the Japanese people who died, in the bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki in 1945.

The scene after the nuclear explosion in Japan 1945

Even from the remaining rubble, they found that this ancient city after being "wiped out" was quite similar to the scenes of Hiroshima and Nagasaki after being atomic bombed . The ground also retains the trace of nuclear radiation.

In the ancient Indian epic "Mahabharata" also has a detailed description of this catastrophic accident 5,000 years ago that shows the spectacle of humans from the prehistoric times that suffered the atomic bomb explosion:

"The sky sounded a roaring explosion, followed by a lightning bolt, the southern sky rolled up a pillar of fire rising to the sky.

The flare more brightly than the sun cut the sky in half .

The houses, the streets and all the creatures were destroyed by the flames that came suddenly and quickly .

The scary fire caused animals to tumble, the river water boiled, the fishes all died of masses, the dead were as dry as branches, hair and nail toenails fell out, the food was infected. poison,.

It was a Bomb, but a powerful bomb of the entire universe. A difficult stream of blinding redness like a flame, shining like thousands of suns, slowly rolling up high, blinding light . "

The spectacle of mushroom-shaped clouds is typical of nuclear efforts
Many scientists believe that this is evidence of the existence of prehistoric civilization .

The same thing happened when archaeologists discovered things like molten cheese in the Euphrates river valley in West Asia, an area that once existed in prehistoric civilization about 8,000 years ago. These are exactly the same things left after the atomic bomb test in the State of Nevada, USA.

Scientists also found similar "nuclear melting" in the Sahara desert, the Mongolian Gobi desert, the upper reaches of the Ganges, the primitive jungle Dordene . In these places, blocks Big rocks also have phallification, but to do that, the temperature is up to 2,000 degrees Celsius. In order to achieve that temperature, the biggest fires even eruptions of volcanoes cannot be done but can only be explosions. atom bomb.

Scientists are quite certain about the nuclear explosion 5,000 years ago but why this explosion happened, the ancient humans could build an atomic bomb is still an unexplained question until the day. now on.
