

Dell shows the rotating screen on the Inspiron Duo

Dell's latest promotional video demonstrates the versatile screen rotation capabilities of the Inspiron Duo and its JBL speaker dock.

Dell's latest promotional video demonstrates the versatile screen rotation capabilities of the Inspiron Duo and its JBL speaker dock.

After "revealing" at IDF 2010 (Intel Developer Conference) a few weeks ago, Dell continues to intrigue users as they continue to introduce the video to introduce this product.

In addition to the flexible rotating mechanism to switch from a regular laptop to a tablet, the Inspiron Duo also comes with a docking station and a JBL speaker system for the device.

There is currently no selling price for this product. According to Engadget, Inspiron Duo will be available in about 2 months time.

Watch videos for Dell screen advertising

You finished reading the article "Dell shows the rotating screen on the Inspiron Duo" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.