

Dell stopped producing Alienware M15x

Information about the Alienware M15x laptop has been removed from Dell's online sales website. According to Engadget, the manufacturer has officially confirmed it will stop producing laptops with 15.6-inch screens to focus on other Alienware laptops.

Information about the Alienware M15x laptop has been removed from Dell's online sales website.

The existence of M15x can compete with other models. Photo: Dell.

According to Engadget, the manufacturer has officially confirmed it will stop producing laptops with 15.6-inch screens to focus on other Alienware laptops.

Last month, Dell unveiled three super-laptops for gamers. In the compact gaming laptop segment with M11x and M14x, and in the desktop replacement laptop market, users can choose M17x or M18x. The result is that the M15x's existence is not only redundant but also competitive with other models.

You finished reading the article "Dell stopped producing Alienware M15x" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.