

Dell unveiled two low-cost laptops at Computex 2014

Many computer firms were present at Computex 2014 and Dell is no exception. Inspiron 11 3000 series and Inspiron 13 7000 series are two cheap Windows-based laptops that Dell brings to this exhibition. These two laptops have the same 360-degree Yoga laptop hinge of Lenovo.

Many computer firms were present at Computex 2014 and Dell is no exception. Inspiron 11 3000 series and Inspiron 13 7000 series are two cheap Windows-based laptops that Dell brings to this exhibition. These two laptops have the same 360-degree Yoga laptop hinge of Lenovo.

Dell Inspiron 13 7000 series

In addition to the screen size, the difference between these two laptops is that the 7000 series has a Core i3 / i5 processor, with a passive stylus and a full HD screen resolution; meanwhile 3000 series use the Bay Trail Pentium processor and a 1366x768 pixel resolution screen.

Dell Inspiron 11 3000 series

However, both laptops are of good quality with comfortable keyboards. 3000 series will be released from June 19 at a price of 450 USD ( about 9.5 million VND ) in the US market and become a direct competitor to devices such as the ASUS Transformer Book T100. Meanwhile, the 7000 series will be sold in September next to the undisclosed price.

You finished reading the article "Dell unveiled two low-cost laptops at Computex 2014" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

---