

Disorder, a completely new survival co-op shooter, has a Beta version, invited to download and experience

Disorder is a 3rd person shooter with a context in 2030, when the third world war was happening.

At the annual game developer conference (GDC) held in March/2019, NetEase introduced an entirely new mobile shooter, taking the post-apocalyptic world theme after nuclear warfare. Disorder name. Currently, NetEase has released a Beta of Disorder, players have been able to play this game.

NetEase said, Disorder is a 3rd person shooter with a context in 2030, when the Third World War was happening. This is the time when factions constantly kill each other to earn money and access nuclear weapons. Players will have to join a faction and team-up with others to survive and win their side in a place where there are no rules and laws.

In Disorder, a player will team up with 4 other players to form a team. 100 players are paired into 20 teams, and thrown into an extremely wide island. Here, in addition to destroying 19 other teams, the players also have to fight with soldiers on the island.

Disorder carries heavy co-op and role-playing elements, each character in the game will have their own weapons and skills. Weapons and items in the game are graded by color, among them purple is the strongest. To get money to upgrade, players must kill soldiers on the island or pick up on the road.

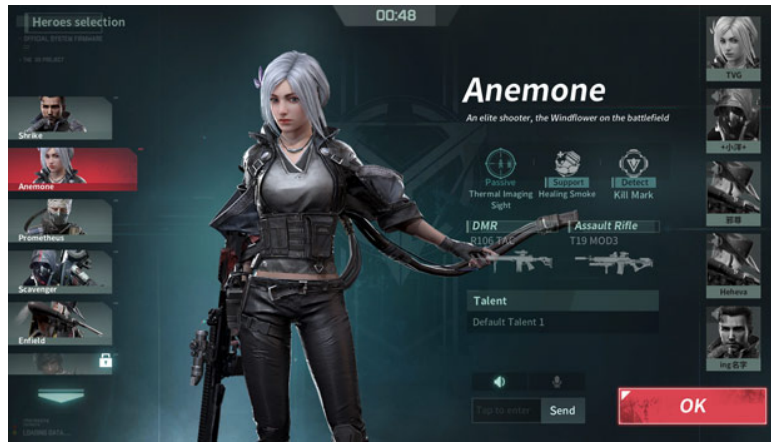

Graphics in the game are carefully invested and meticulously brought many dusty features of the survival game series. Extremely wide game map with many factories and different areas.

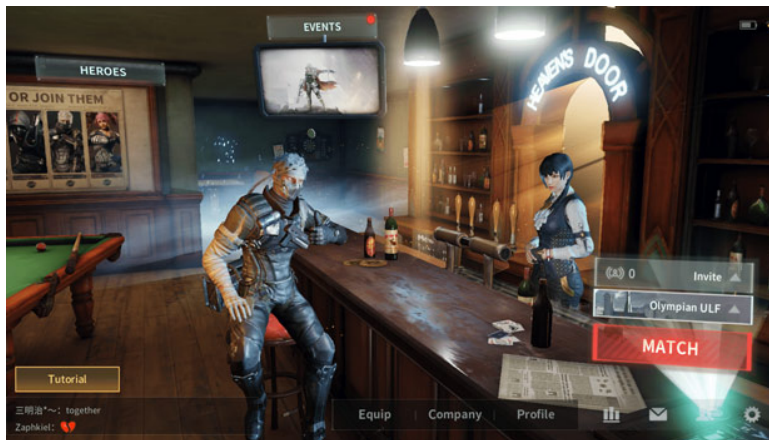

If you want to change winds after playing Battle Royale games, the Disorder survival game will be a great choice.

Disorder is currently in Beta and has English support, to download the game to the experience, you can click on the link below.
