Arena Of Survivors is a survival shooter developed by Hiker Games, the leading game producer in Vietnam. Currently, Arena Of Survivors is in beta testing phase on Google Play, allowing players to download and experience for free from August 15.

Arena Of Survivors' play is similar to PUBG, players will be taken to an abandoned island with a standard melee weapon and "invisibility cloak". Players will have to choose weapons or equipment to fight and survive to the end.

Unlike other Battle Royale games that follow the 3rd or 1st view, Arena Of Survivors uses top-down views. This perspective helps players to easily cover the entire map around and then take the most accurate steps.

A match in Arena Of Survivors has a maximum of 20 real-time players, so it usually lasts only 3 to 5 minutes. In order to win the match, the player must have the ability to think judgment, good shooting skills and a little luck.

In addition, Arena Of Survivors has an interesting hidden mechanism, allowing the character to stealth when not moving to join the teamfight.
