So after a long time with countless rumors, Apple has officially launched its latest product series at the Glowtime event that took place in the early morning of September 10.

Among them, the name that receives the most attention is definitely the iPhone 16 line with a total of 4 models: iPhone 16, iPhone 16 Plus, iPhone 16 Pro and iPhone 16 Pro Max.

Besides factors such as appearance design or hardware power, another aspect, although small, also receives a lot of attention on new high-end phone models in general and iPhone 16 in particular, is the wallpaper set designed and introduced by Apple separately with the product. These wallpapers not only bring creativity, but sometimes also imply the messages that the manufacturer sends with the new product line.

In terms of color variants, the iPhone 16 and 16 Plus are available in five colors, including dark blue, turquoise, pink, white, and black. While the Pro and Pro Max variants are available in Titanium Black, Original Titanium, Titanium White, and the all-new Desert Titanium.

The high-resolution wallpaper pack for the entire iPhone 16 lineup has also been revealed, although not officially announced by Apple, they are all high-quality renders. The high-resolution wallpapers include five iPhone 16 and 16 Plus wallpapers, matching the color variants. There will also be four wallpapers for the iPhone 16 Pro and 16 Pro Max models, each matching the respective color of the device.

The iPhone 16 and 16 Plus wallpapers have a resolution of 945x2048, while the wallpapers for the iPhone 16 Pro and Pro Max models have a resolution of 1320x2868.
