ZWSOFT's ZWCAD + 2015 is a tool to assist users in designing technical drawings. Although not as well known as AutoCad, ZWCAD is gradually becoming more popular and used.

Speaking of technical drawing support tools, it is impossible not to mention AutoCad - an extremely popular Autodesk graphics support product. However, the user's computer will have to spend a huge amount of resources to serve this software. With the advent of ZWCAD, users have a better choice, even, that is more perfect for their work.

The advantages of ZWCAD compared to AutoCad

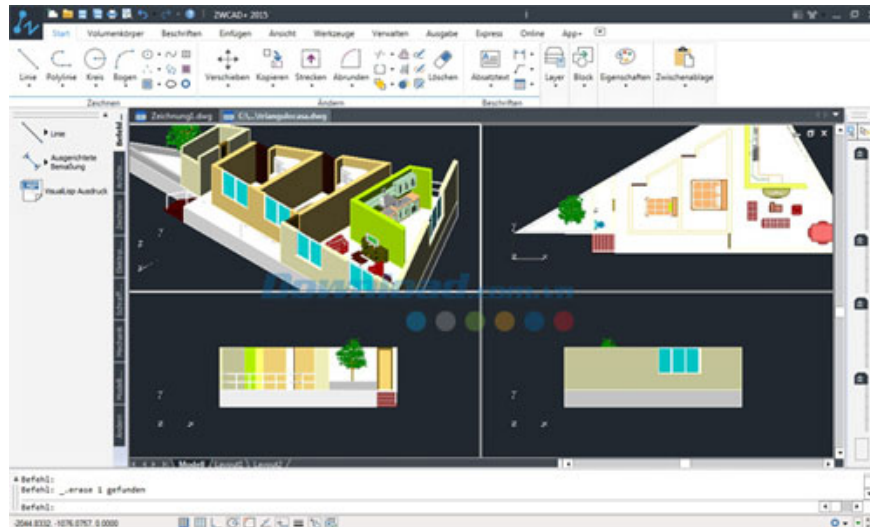

In fact, if the user's computer is not strong enough, even if I want to, I can't / should not use AutoCad, because the fact that this software is too integrated with unnecessary tools makes it too heavier use. Even right up to the 3D design feature of this tool is not really useful, because if only compared to 3D graphics, the other software will "eat off" AutoCad. In order to overcome these disadvantages and not go into the car crash, ZWSOFT created ZWCAD + 2015 - a small software to support technical drawing, but can still meet the requirements of users.

With the same usage and features as AutoCad, ZWCAD is superior to the compact, suitable for both normal and even slightly older computers. Let's take a look at other advantages of this software:

1. Compact, lightweight, but still full of features, especially extremely low cost.
2. Fully compatible with DWG files and other CAD software.
3. Design capabilities and speed are greatly improved with new functions such as Stretch, Explode, Regen, Insert, PasteClip, Refedit
4. Support multi-lingual programming: LISP, VBA, SDS and DRX

5. Technical system always supports 24/7 users to answer users' questions about ZWCAD right in Vietnam.
6. Develop features to view and edit drawings directly on mobile devices.
7. Powerful API, voice notes
8. The ability to use images imported from Google Earth helps design, review drawings faster and more accurately.

In addition, ZWCAD works smoother and more stable with the application of modern technologies, making it possible to open drawings with only 50% of memory.

With a moderate amount of money, but all requirements are met with extremely good quality, ZWCAD is indeed a perfect solution for small and medium sized architectural firms.
