

Dual screen laptop 'show off'

The size is as small as a netbook, but there are two screens for a more user-friendly interface, which are the first features of Kohjinsha's dual-screen DZ laptop.

The size is as small as a netbook, but there are two screens for a more user-friendly interface, which are the first features of Kohjinsha's dual-screen DZ laptop.

Kohjinsha DZ or DZ6KHE16E owns two 10.1-inch LED blacklit displays that are matched to each other to create a look that is no different from a regular laptop. When you need to use 2 monitors, users just need to turn on the coupling located on the side of the screen to reveal the second screen.

Kohjinsha DZ dual screen

To cut costs, Kohjinsha opted for a low-end configuration similar to today's popular netbooks including the Athlon Neo MV-40 1.6GHz processor, 1GB of RAM (up to 4GB upgrade), 160GB of 5400rpm hard drive. , discrete ATI Radeon HD 3200 graphics card, Wi-Fi 802.11 b / g / n, Ethernet and 1.3mp webcam.

Looks like a regular laptop when used with 1 screen

It has a battery life of 4 to 4.5 hours of operation. Due to 2 screens, the weight becomes heavier, 1.84kg. Kohjinsha has officially sold the dual-screen DZ line in the Japanese market at a price of 21 million VND (~1107 USD).

Canova has flexible morphology, modern look but the price is quite high

Laptops with dual screens are not new ideas. The first dual-screen laptop title to mention is that Asus W5Fe has a small sub-screen outside the machine surface. Next is the idea for Canova dual-screen laptops with modern designs, taking advantage of 1 of 2 screens as virtual keyboard. However, most of these notebooks only stop at the technology level because their prices are still high (Canova has a price range of VND 76 million - $ 4,000).

Asus W5Fe with secondary monitor on the machine surface

You finished reading the article "Dual screen laptop 'show off'" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

---