Duo is an accessory to help laptops have a second screen to help users expand the workspace during use. This accessory is suitable for those who have screen needs but still ensures laptop portability.

The secondary monitor is mounted on the lid of the laptop thanks to a magnetic patch and is powered through the cable connected to the USB port on the computer.

The sub-screen is 12.5 inches in size, Full HD 1080p resolution and can flip versatile. When you attach this accessory, your laptop will have 680 grams of power and 12 mm thick. Although optimized, the extra screen makes your laptop run faster.

According to information from the developer, Duo accessories are compatible with both macOS, Chrome OS, Windows, Linux computers.

Currently Duo is being called on Kickstarter and is expected to sell for 229 USD.
