

Elden Ring: A Gamer Discovered The Game's 7th Ending

Although it has been released for more than a month, Elden Ring still contains a lot of interesting things for the gaming community to discover.

FromSoftware has always been famous for creating non-linear storylines with many different endings depending on each player's actions. And Elden Ring is no exception when this game owns up to 6 different official Endings.

Some of those endings will be good, but the rest are not very pleasant, even giving gamers an extremely inhibiting experience.

Recently, some people even found another Ending of Elden Ring and recognized by the community as the 7th ending that has always been hidden.

Specifically, YouTuber Garden of Eyes discovered this 7th Ending when he noticed a cutscene that was never used in the game. If you get here, you will have 2 choices, either repair the ring of Elden, or start a new era consisting of Age of Stars and more.

This discovery quickly attracted the attention and interest of a large number of Elden Ring fans around the globe. However, not everyone can figure out this special ending. That's why Garden of Eyes clearly notes how he can unlock the 7th Ending so everyone can experience it for themselves.
