

Elon Musk: Tesla's self-driving car will amaze the world

Tesla's self-driving cars are cheap, beautiful, and environmentally friendly and stylish, what do you want more in a car?

Admire Tesla 's latest autopilot cars here.

During a telephone conference discussing financial issues held on Wednesday morning, CEO Elon Musk was asked about the time to launch Tesla's autopilot engines.

Musk refused to reveal anything related to product information, but he stressed that: Tesla will soon announce cars that drive and they won't disappoint people.

He said: " Automation will grow faster than you think and I think what we are doing will surprise everyone. I also feel surprised ."

What is remarkable here is that last September, Musk said that Tesla's autopilot engines would be completed by 2018. But at the same time he also added: government regulations have been adjusted. so self-driving cars will not proceed immediately. Therefore, Tesla's self-driving engines will move to several places at different times.

Last month, Musk shared the second part of Tesla's master plan that required a strong focus on automatic mode.

In a short time, the company focused on autopilot , its "semi-automatic" system will be 10 times safer than conventional engines in the US. But when adjustments are made to comply with self-driving car regulations in countries, the Tesla plan will launch a self-driving car rental service.

This concept is very simple: The founder of Tesla will bring their autonomous cars to a common point of Tesla and whenever they want they can earn money from their own cars .

Major automakers around the world and technology companies - including Google, BMW, Mercedes-Benz and Apple - are all working on self-driving cars. But, according to Tesla, many automakers have for the first time launched the Autopilot function - like adding functions to their new cars, which allows vehicles to drive themselves on high roads. speed and self parking.

You finished reading the article "Elon Musk: Tesla's self-driving car will amaze the world" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.