

Entertainment laptop 'terrible' at the beginning of the year

The early laptop market in 2009 was hot because of the emergence of new models from Apple, Toshiba, Lenovo and HP equipped with new and powerful entertainment technologies.

The early laptop market in 2009 was hot because of the emergence of a series of new models from Apple, Toshiba, Lenovo and HP equipped with new and powerful entertainment technologies.

Entering 2009, a series of major events took place, from Macworld to CES, companion for new products. New laptops that appeared earlier this year are strong in performance, beautifully designed and equipped with new features.

Toshiba Qosmio X305-Q725 with SSD hard drive

The X305 runs two hard drives at the same time. Photo: Infosyncworld .

Toshiba Qosmio X305 is a laptop with a strong configuration. This model was introduced by Toshiba at CES recently with many new improvements. The device owns two hard drives, one of which is 64 GB SSD and SATA 320 GB hard drive, 7,200 rpm.

Users can store system software and important programs on the SSD to improve the speed for the device. There are other data files stored in the second drive.

The Qosmio X305 features an Nvidia GeForce 9800M GTX graphics card, a 17-inch widescreen, 4 USB ports.

The price of this model is announced by Toshiba of USD 2,700.

17 inch Macbook Pro with strong battery

The MacBook is 17 inches strong with an 8-hour battery. Photo: Infosyncworld .

The 17-inch MacBook battery is the "top" product released by Apple at Macworld 2009. This is an upgrade of the 2008 model launches, enhanced with a seamless battery design, extended up to 8 hours. , 1,000 charges.

Besides, the 17-inch MacBook Pro is also a top-notch entertainment laptop with plenty of graphics equipment, software to support images and videos. It supports 3G connection, Blu-ray reader.

Lenovo Y650, the thinnest 16-inch laptop

Y650 integrates many powerful entertainment technologies. Photo: Infosyncworld .

Lenovo's new laptop brings up the IdeaPad Y650, which has a 16-inch widescreen, with its claim, this is the slimmest and lightest 16-inch model available today.

The Y650 has an integrated audio system of renowned JBL speaker, Nvidia video card that supports playing games and watching HD movies. Like the new MacBook Pro, it also comes with a Blu-ray reader, HD home entertainment system and supports Dolby Surround audio technology. This model is priced at $ 1,200 and will appear in March.

HP Pavilion dv7

HP's Pavilion dv7 has a screen for watching HD movies. Photo: Infosyncworld .

HP just refreshed the Pavilion dv7 line at CES with a 16: 9 aspect ratio display. This is a perfect size for watching HD format movies as well as other extended entertainment features. It has a large 17-inch screen, touch-sensitive multimedia entertainment keys. In addition, the dv7 also offers the option to install Blu-ray reader, TV-turner as well as integrated Nvidia GeForce 9600M GT graphics card and two hard drives.

You finished reading the article "Entertainment laptop 'terrible' at the beginning of the year" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

---