3. eBay is no longer an online auction site?

With a wide variety of goods as well as different offices around the world, many people go on eBay to find their favorite products. To help you understand how to buy goods on the eBay website, the following article of the Network Administrator would like to share with you the detailed instructions on how to buy goods on eBay for your reference.

1. Visit the eBay website to search for products

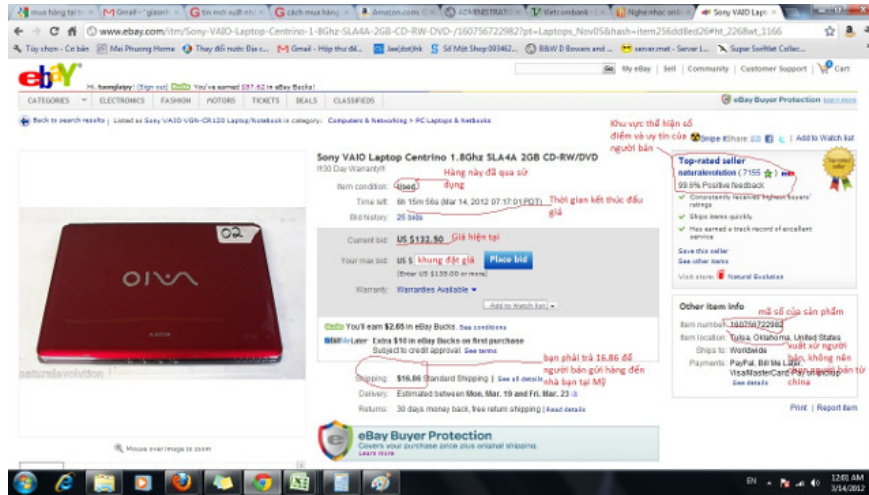

First you need to visit the eBay.com website to search for products according to your needs. In the main interface of eBay we see a product search box (search Box), you just need to enter the product key to find. However, the system of ebay websites always has an advanced search engine, which helps us find the exact product with our desires.

Tips:

1. When searching advanced, you should type your search into the "Search title and description" box to find both the title and the content of the ad sample to get the full results.
2. After producing the product results you found, eBay always lists ads with the earliest ending time (Timeest: Endest Ending). However, our goal is to go to ebay to find cheap and cheap goods, so choose the "Price: lowest first" in the "sort by:" section to get ebay ads with prices from low to high up first. We are easy to see and choose to buy.
3. EBay search engines don't understand whitespace. So, for example, to find Logitech LX7, we can type in the keyword search box [Logitech (lx7, lx 7)] for better results.

2. Carefully read the product information

On eBay there are a variety of products and models, each product is described by the manufacturer as different forms of payment, shipping, taxes . So you need to consult carefully. Information before buying. If you find it difficult to understand something, you can click "Ask seller a question" to ask the seller clearly.

3. See the trust level of the seller

Need to see first is the country of the seller, should choose the seller from the US, Germany, UK . avoid ordering goods on ebay from sellers from China, Morocco . to prevent encountering unreliable people selling counterfeit goods , I dont meant it mean or somethin: P.

Positive Feedback: Only buy products from sellers who get more Feedback and better rate than 99%. The reason: Seller has a lot of feedbacks that show that sellers sell a lot on eBay and a 99% rate shows that in 100 transactions, there are more than 99 transactions that are satisfied by consumers.

Member Since: The time of sale and purchase activities of seller, the longer the time, the better because of the evidence of a long-term seller, a lot of experience and feedback information will clearly show the buying and selling information of the seller.

4. Auction or buy now

In addition, at eBay you can use the product auction function, the person who buys the product is the highest bidder until the end of the auction.

Buy It Now: Is an advertisement that the seller lists a fixed price for a product to sell. Not paid.

Bid: A seller offering the lowest price for the buyer to participate in the auction. The person who sets the highest price will be able to buy the product after the time of the advertising sample ends. This requires buyers to be patient and calculate how much to fight in order to avoid overvalued prices of products out of the market. This is a very interesting game.

5. Payment method

This problem is simple, so it should be said. Ebay accepts international payment cards (Visa / Master / JCB / American Express .). If you only have an ATM card or do not have a bank card, you can only purchase goods through intermediaries.

And in addition, Ebay.com also accepts payment by Paypal. If you are a person making money online and have income paid on Paypal, buying on Ebay is a wise choice. Because when you withdraw money to Vietnam, Paypal usually converts at a exchange rate, making you lose a lot of money.
