Finally, Facebook Messenger has also launched Dark Mode, the feature most expected by users.

Finally, Facebook Messenger has also launched Dark Mode, the feature most expected by users.

However, this is only a test on a limited number of people in some countries. So, if your Messenger application doesn't change, don't be too surprised.

To activate Dark mode, users only need to access the My personal page of the Messenger application. When activated, a warning will appear informing the user that this feature is still incomplete and is still being tested.
