

Experiences to keep in mind when choosing to buy Android TV box

Are you planning to buy an Android TV box but don't have much experience in choosing? The following basic knowledge about Android TV box will help you choose to buy good quality products that fit your needs and financial capabilities.

Are you planning to buy an Android TV box but don't have much experience in choosing? The following basic knowledge about Android TV box will help you choose to buy a quality product that suits your needs.

Android TV box is a signal transceiver running Android operating system, which turns ordinary TV into smart TV, can listen to music, read newspapers, play games, . When choosing to buy Android TV box you have to care about these important criteria.

1. Choose to buy according to the configuration

If Smart TV and Internet TV become more popular, Android TV box is also a smart choice for users when there is a need for online entertainment on TV. An Android TV box also has configuration parameters to choose from, the more you read, the higher the Android TV box will be, the faster, more powerful, less jerky when playing games, downloading many applications .

The parameters to consider are: Processor (CPU), RAM, internal memory, Graphics Processor (GPU, has additional side effects for CPU, specializing in strengthening the power of image processing).

Notice the configuration parameters.

Tips to choose to buy based on configuration:

Depending on your needs, we will choose to buy Android TV box based on the configuration accordingly:

- If your family only needs to listen to music, watch movies, read newspapers, YouTube, . and download some simple applications, you should choose Android TV box with dual core CPU, about 1-2 GB RAM, 8 GB memory and additional quad-core GPU is enough experience and can be used well (range 700 thousand VND to 2 million).

- If your family has many members, want to download a variety of applications to your computer or play a lot of heavy games, you should buy more terrible configuration: quad core CPU, 2 GB RAM, 16 or 32 GB memory, core GPU Four or even 8 cores. This price is a bit more expensive, ranging from 2 to 4 million.

2. Choose to buy based on the characteristics of the TV, the connection ports

Currently, most types of LED TVs have HDMI ports, quite convenient for connecting to Android TV box. However, with older models (CRT TV), there is usually only AV port (jack of 3 white, red, yellow). Therefore, when buying certain Android TV box, do not ignore the supporting port element to match your home TV, otherwise it will not cost you much money.

For greater certainty and peace of mind, it is best to buy Android box TV with 2 HDMI and AV connectors, so it will be suitable for many TVs and prevent 1 in 2 ports. OK.

Ports on Android TV boxes also need to be mindful.

If you want to choose a high-end Smart TV box to satisfy your home gaming needs, it will need products that support Bluetooth connectivity or multiple USB ports. It is best to buy Android TV box with 2 USB ports, because the Android Box with multiple USB ports will be able to connect at the same time with the mouse, keyboard, gaming handle, .

Audio port is also a factor you should pay special attention to when buying. For example, in case you want to connect the TV to a compact, portable, . via Optical cable, but the TV does not have it, now an Android TV with Optical port box will be the perfect choice.

3. Note the wireless connections

All good Android TV box products now support Wi-Fi connectivity. However, if the needs of your home do not stop at watching movies, listening to high quality music, . but you want to project your phone screen, laptop to the TV or control the TV by phone, . then an Android TV box with full Miracast, DLNA or Bluetooth support is the first choice.

Note the wireless connections.

4. Choose to buy by brand and price

In the market now there are many types of Android TV box of variety in price, brand as well as origin. You just need to type in Google keywords Android TV box will be suggested a lot. Therefore, be very alert to make the right choice. Some brands can refer and choose to buy such as: Minix, Mygica, Himedia, Pipo, Zidoo, Kiwibox, .

Consult carefully and choose a reputable brand.

Besides, there is another suggestion for you that Android TV box has pre-installed content. Basically, this type is also Android TV normal box but has been installed by the provider of its own content packages developed. Some popular types such as: eBop, ZTV, VNPT, .

5. Choose to buy accessories

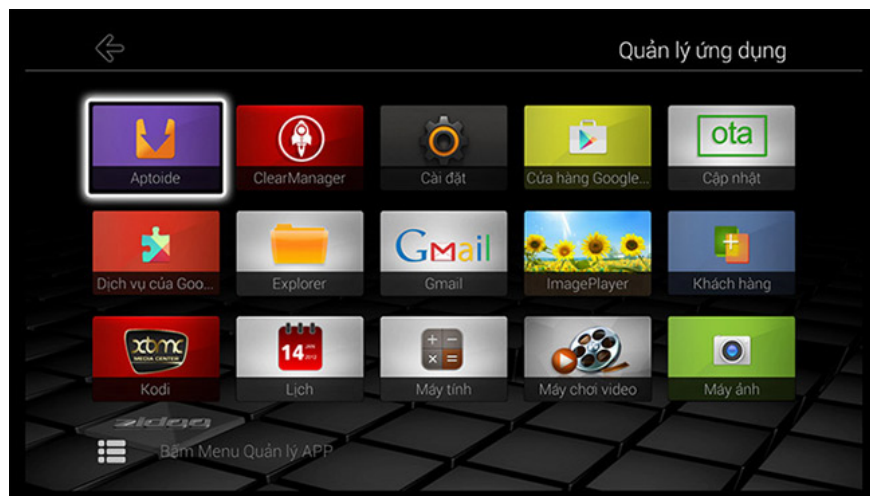

Accessories are indispensable to enhance the user experience, when you own Android TV box you should buy more accessories for yourself such as: Keyboard, camera, gaming handle, .

When buying, you need to ask the seller carefully to see if the machine is sure to support the air connection, if it is correct, please provide the correct type of Android TV box to receive advice to buy good compatibility, avoid money lost because of buying harassment.

6. Some other notes when choosing to buy

After configuration, brand, accessories, . there are many other factors we need to keep in mind when choosing to buy Android TV box:

- Only choose to consult information and buy online when you are knowledgeable about electronic devices in the house, always remember to carefully check the information about machine configuration, brand origin, warranty, . .
- If you are not familiar with connecting TV with Android TV box, please go directly to the store for advice, or you can ask an experienced person to accompany you. In the process of consulting the seller, you can ask them to give you a little experience such as: look at the interface, connection port, try to see if it is smooth, try the wireless connection features . to ensure the purchase of the kind and quality.

Preinstalled applications to facilitate use.

- Finally, an offer to support your home sales and installation of the applications you want to use is essential if you do not have experience using this device.

Above are some of the experiences of buying Android TV box, hoping that with all this experience you will get the original orientation and buy the best Android TV box, best suited to your needs.

Thank you for reading this article.

Maybe you are interested:

1. Review Android TV Box
2. Set up, control new Android TV Box faster thanks to Android TV Remote Control
3. Instructions for using iPhone to control Samsung TVs

You finished reading the article "Experiences to keep in mind when choosing to buy Android TV box" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.