

Eyes with the magic of magic 1-0-2 just won the World Magician championship

Surely you will have to rub your eyes and want to see again and again the performances of the champion from Taiwan, Eric Chien.

"World Championships of Magic" (World Championships of Magic) is a tournament of magicians from around the world organized by the International Magic Division (FISM - Fédération Internationale des Sociétés Magiques). The World Magic Championship is considered as the World Cup of magicians and is held every 3 years. This year, the tournament was held in Busan, South Korea and Eric Chien, a Taiwanese magician who won the match thanks to his 1-0-2 performance.

Check out the video below to see how the magic of this year's championship is super weird.

This year's award took place in Busan, South Korea, Taiwan's magician Eric Chien convincingly won, winning the championship thanks to his super-fantasy-1-0-2 performance. Please enjoy the "magic" of the champion right in the video below:

Eric Chien's performance made everyone admire. Using only one ribbon in the middle of the table, a deck of cards and a box, Eric Chien kept making cards disappear, his shirt and deck of cards changing color, coins and cards flying up like magic art. Although Eric Chien's actions were close-up, almost everyone didn't know how this guy had done that miracle.

Eric Chien dealt cards without seeing the card.

After the outstanding performance, Eric Chien won the "Best Trick" award, which is regarded as the world championship for magic.

See more:

1. Reveal the secret magic of classic magic going through the Great Wall of the "witch" David Copperfield
2. Reveal 8 "immortal" magic tricks - the only thing you see turns out there's no magic at all!
3. Flipping the classic escape magic: sticking your feet, handcuffs, hanging upside down in the water box and still escaping safely

You finished reading the article "Eyes with the magic of magic 1-0-2 just won the World Magician championship" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.