

Facebook added a new feature that allows chat for 250 people in the Group

Facebook recently added to users in a large Group with a large number of participants a new feature is the chat capability of up to 250 people. In addition, this feature also supports conversation and video calls up to 50 people.

Facebook recently added to users in a large Group with a large number of participants a new feature is the chat capability of up to 250 people. In addition, this feature also supports conversation and video calls up to 50 people.

With the newly added feature, all members of the group can join or be invited to the conversation. Only when the user joins the conversation will they receive a notification for each message in the conversation, if the invitation is declined, you will not be notified of 'spam'.

To avoid being disturbed, users who participate in the conversation can choose to receive only notifications that are mentioned directly by the @ symbol.

Administrators of the group can restrict spam by 'clearing' conversations or setting so that only they can open conversations.

New features in Group will be started by Facebook today.

See more:

1. Instructions for creating groups on Facebook
2. There is Facebook Lite for iOS, inviting experience
3. New feature on Facebook, allowing inserting music into photos and videos

You finished reading the article "Facebook added a new feature that allows chat for 250 people in the Group" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.