

Facebook allows zooming with two fingers without leaving the News Feed

Instagram finally brought the zoom feature last year through pinch-to-zoom (zoom with two fingers). It seems that Facebook is also about to bring this feature to the News Feed.

There have been a few times this has been mentioned on Twitter in the past few months but recently we have seen more. Facebook notifies this feature with a dynamic effect. Although this feature is not available on iOS devices, but has seen on many Android phones, so it is probably being released widely.

Zoom in with two fingers without leaving the News Feed

Previously users could touch to zoom in, but the new feature will be faster and allow zooming in without leaving the News Feed. Pinch-to-zoom on News Feed also helps to expand images more than when touching photos like before. Especially, this feature only works with private photos, not with albums.

You finished reading the article "Facebook allows zooming with two fingers without leaving the News Feed" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.