

Facebook has allowed commenting with colorful backgrounds

Recently, Facebook has added new features that allow users to write comments, comments with background color, similar to when posting Facebook status with background color.

One way to change the look of the News Feed that Facebook has applied is to allow users to post Facebook status with background color on the web version, and mobile version. And now users can choose a lot of different post status backgrounds, not just a simple background color like before.

And according to many users, Facebook recently updated the feature that allows commenting, commenting with colorful backgrounds.

Accordingly, we can select the background color when commenting on any post on Facebook. When clicking on the comment box, a series of colors with small squares appears so you can select and use. After clicking on the background color, just write a comment and click post.

However, until the present time Facebook comment feature with color wallpaper only appears on some Facebook accounts and only applies to the Facebook application version only.

Hopefully in the future, the feature of commenting and commenting on Facebook with background color will apply to all Facebook accounts, both on the web version and on Facebook.

You finished reading the article "Facebook has allowed commenting with colorful backgrounds" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
