Recently, Facebook has suddenly launched a new, very useful mobile payment feature that makes it easier and more convenient for users to shop and turn this world's largest social network into a "mall. trade "online. This new feature of Facebook was discovered by MobileWorld.

Users can use this new feature to pay online when purchasing Marketplace items. Facebook's new service is now available on some sites like Marshmello Music and support payments via Visa, Master Card and even electronic money.

However, this feature does not yet have identification symbols and the payment process is quite complicated. To make mobile payments on Facebook, the buyer will have to send the seller a request and wait for consent or refusal. Request for money transfer will be sent back to the buyer if the seller accepts the request.
