

Farewell to animation, Lien Quan Mobile collab with a famous game?

After the success of the 'handshake' with DC to bring Harley Quinn into its skin system, Lien Quan Mobile continues to tease about a new cooperation in 2022.

'Who would you most like to collaborate with AOV with?' This is the question that makes the Lien Quan Mobile gaming community anxious and excited to find the answer these past few days. It is known that this is a post that appeared on the Lien Quan Mobile Indonesia fanpage with an interesting photo with a hint of AOV's next collab.

Although it has been blacked out 'thoroughly', the gaming community still easily recognizes the two generals participating in the early 2022 cooperation of Lien Quan Mobile, namely Aoi and Enzo.

Notably, many gamers quickly discovered an interesting detail that, right below the posted picture, there is a very familiar badge - the logo of an extremely popular Assassin's game series. Creed. However, not long after that, the AOV Indonesia homepage deleted the post and corrected that it was just a mistake from the Editor!

Currently, besides AC, many fans still expect a lot from Lien Quan Mobile to have a grand collaboration with Attack on TiTan. The reason is because in some other moba games, Mikasa or Levi are characters that have appeared with the same way of moving as Aoi.

And you, what do you expect from Lien Quan Mobile's early 2022 collab? Wait and watch it!

You finished reading the article "Farewell to animation, Lien Quan Mobile collab with a famous game?" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.

