

Favorite game of Bill Gates, Elon Musk and Mark Zuckerberg

Tech billionaires like Bill Gates, Elon Musk or Mark Zuckerberg are very busy with work, but they still make time to play entertaining games.

Elon Musk

During the Twitter Space program on July 23, Musk revealed that although he was chatting with the audience, he still played the game Diablo IV. He further revealed that he is playing at Legendary level, one of the hardest levels and not everyone can conquer.

In addition, the US billionaire also played Super Smash Bros, Bioshock, Warcraft, Overwatch and Elden Ring.

Bill Gates

According to information in part 6 of the Boss Fight Books series published at the end of February, Bill Gates, when he was still CEO of Microsoft, was addicted or even addicted to Minesweeper. In 1992, he once "broke" the game in 5 seconds.

Later, Gates also played a number of other games such as Wii Sports, Halo on Microsoft's Kinect device.

Mark Zuckerberg

Zuckerberg once said games were what introduced him to programming. In 2017, the owner of Meta once boasted that he played a number of games such as SongPop, Civilization and Farmville. By 2019, he revealed that he liked playing the strategy game Sid Meier's Civilization because it "provides a lot of challenges".

Jeff Bezos

Bezos once revealed that his favorite game is League of Legends - League of Legends. He also owns Twitch - the most popular game streaming platform for gamers. So it's not surprising that under the leadership of Jeff Bezos Studio's first game called Crucible is a stylish combination of Overwatch, League of Legends, Fortnite and Apex Legends.

You finished reading the article "Favorite game of Bill Gates, Elon Musk and Mark Zuckerberg" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.