

Feng shui bonsai with age brings luck and fortune

Here are the bonsai feng shui with age (12 animals) bring luck, fortune, invite you to refer.

Choosing indoor plants, desks, many people not only pay attention to the beauty, the effect of vacuuming, filtering the air, but they also choose suitable feng shui trees with the wish of good luck.

Here are the bonsai feng shui with age (12 animals) bring luck, fortune, invite you to refer.

Feng shui tree for the year of the Rat: Needle tree

The fortune tree or the needle tree with the main, smooth, balanced green foliage is the symbol of the development of the homeowner in terms of economy and money.

People born in the year of the Rat are not very good wealth managers, so they can put a pot of money in the house to increase their luck.

Feng shui for the year of the Ox: Pineapple landscape

Ornamental plants or pineapples not only have beautiful designs, vibrant colors that beautify the space, but they also mean fortune and luck for the homeowner.

According to feng shui, ornamental pineapple trees can help Ox people earn more money and feel comfortable. Ideally, the Ox should put a potted pineapple plant on the left side of the desk.

Feng shui trees for the year of the Tiger: Five-pack family tree

The five-spiny tree attracts people by the beauty of the green leaves and the unique design.

According to feng shui, the five-pack tree is the feng shui bonsai best suited to the year of the Tiger, helping to maintain the temperament, increase prosperity, luck and fortune.

Feng shui tree for the year of the Rabbit: Tree buds

Phat Loc tree, or wort, has a straight, pale green trunk, divided into sections such as burning bamboo, leaves growing from the eyes on the trunk.

According to feng shui tree found fortune represents wealth, money, wealth. Placing a potted bud in the house will help the Rabbit to speed up the enrichment.

Feng shui bonsai for people of Thin: Cactus and thousands of young people

The perennial tree is lush green, has a gentle appearance, and the cactus has the appearance and essence of that sacred animal, the dragon. According to Feng Shui, the cactus and the perennial tree are suitable for Thin people.

Thin people should place the cactus in the northwest of the living room to neutralize the murder and place the perennial tree in the southeast to increase their fortunes.

Feng shui bonsai for people born in the Year of the Snake: Plants with money

Money plants are herbs, soft-bodied, green leaves shaped like a coin. Not only does this plant bring fresh air, but according to feng shui it also helps to ward off bad luck, increasing the ability to concentrate.

Money plants are very feng shui with the year of the Snake. Placing a pot of gerbera in front of a window sill will help increase fortune for the year of the Snake.

Feng shui bonsai for the year of the Horse: Betel tree

Her betel tree is a creeping herbaceous, single heart-shaped single leaf at the base with prominent white and yellow lines on a green background. In feng shui, she symbolizes health, the will to rise strong, peace and luck.

Placing the betel nut tree in the office will help halt the fortunes of the Year of the Horse.

Feng shui bonsai for people of the year of the Goat: Military orchids

Lan tu prince is a luxurious and regal flower that brings honor and wealth. This flower is suitable for people born in the year of the Goat, to increase your luck to help you on the path of fortune. The best place to place a pot of orchids is the right corner of the wall opposite the sofa.

Feng shui trees of the Monkey year: Acacia tree

Eucalyptus conifer is a very vigorous tree, well adapted to all climates and weather.

According to feng shui, cedar tree hybrids are suitable for people of the Year of the Monkey, supporting the gathering, helping the wallet thicken. The best place for feng shui to place a pot is in the reading room.

Feng shui tree for Rooster age: Stone lotus

Stone lotus has small succulent leaves and is arranged in flowers like a very beautiful lotus.

According to Feng Shui, the stone lotus symbolizes peace, bringing good luck and wealth into the house. At work, the stone lotus tree supports the promotion.

People Rooster should put a stone lotus basin in the living room, desk to prevent loss of money.

Feng shui tree for the year of the Dog: Honeysuckle tree

Honeysuckle, also known as gold coin, is one of the most popular desktop bonsai. According to feng shui honeysuckle brings luck, fortune and happiness to its owner.

Honeysuckle tree suitable for people born in the year of the Dog, helping to accumulate money and fortune.

Feng shui tree for the year of the pig: The most fragrant tree

The most fragrant plant of fragrant lotus leaf or lotus, small and medium sized, easy to grow, with a gentle aroma should be repelled by mosquitoes. In feng shui, the most fragrant incense tree brings fortune, luck, fame and fortune to the homeowner. This plant is suitable for people born in the year of the pig.

You finished reading the article "Feng shui bonsai with age brings luck and fortune" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.