

Feng shui planted in front of the house brings good luck and fortune

According to feng shui, there are plants in front of the house that also help to catch fortune and bad luck. Here are some feng shui plants grown in front of the house to help live, help bring wealth, health for the whole family, please refer.

Planting trees in front of the house helps the living space of the family be green and fresh. According to feng shui, there are plants in front of the house that also help to catch fortune and bad luck. Here are some feng shui plants grown in front of the house to help live, help bring wealth, health for the whole family, please refer.

Areca tree

Areca tree upright, always extending upwards should not prevent the necessary light flow into the house.

Areca tree is a woody tree, which according to the theory of the five elements, born of Fire, will start a good career path. Planting areca tree in front of the house will help increase positive energy, reduce negative energy and bring good luck to homeowners.

Bamboo, bamboo

Bamboos are always fresh and green all year round, regardless of weather conditions. Therefore, this tree symbolizes resilience, overcome adversity and longevity.

According to feng shui, planting bamboo and bamboo trees in front of the house will bring good luck and peace to the family.

Flowering

Jasmine has a pleasant aroma, which is a valuable medicine in medicine. According to feng shui, the flower plants grown in front of the house will bring wealth, wealth and prosperity to the homeowner. In the past, our fathers had the saying "A tree in front of the house, not the way of treasures and the way of money".

Palm

Palm trees are easy to grow, can adapt well to many climatic conditions. This plant not only helps to bring green space but also has a good air purifying effect, especially good absorption of cigarette smoke.

In feng shui, palm trees help keep one's wealth, bringing joy, hope, good luck to the owner. Therefore, ornamental palm trees are often grown in offices or parks and gardens.

Ornamental coconut tree

According to feng shui, planting coconut trees in front of the house can bring good fortune and good fortune to the whole family. In addition, this plant also has a very good air filtration effect.

You finished reading the article "Feng shui planted in front of the house brings good luck and fortune" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.