

Feng shui tree behind the house brings luck and fortune

Plants behind the house should choose the trees with dense foliage and should be planted in the position to prevent the north wind and the northeast wind to create both a cover and a trench effect.

In addition to feng shui trees in the home, homeowners also need to pay attention to the plants in front of the house and in the back of the house so that feng shui to support brings good luck and fortune to the family.

Plants behind the house should choose the trees with dense foliage and should be planted in the position to prevent the north wind and the northeast wind to create both a cover and a trench effect. Depending on the position of the house, the position of the land and the area of the backyard area, the homeowner can choose suitable plants.

Here are good feng shui plants to grow on the campus behind the house, invite you

Banana tree

Bananas with broad foliage have a good shielding effect and this plant is also very easy to grow. The smooth green of banana leaves symbolizes luck. Therefore, a pot of ornamental bananas is a great choice if homeowners want to plant trees in the back of the house.

Singapore eagle tree

Eagle tree is a plant with thick, wide canopy feng shui to grow behind the house. However, you should choose Singaporean ornamental tree, the tree is not too big, can be potted.

Bamboo / ornamental bamboo

Bamboo and bamboo are feng shui plants that are not only suitable to grow in front of the house, but also can grow well behind the house. According to feng shui, bamboo, bamboo planted behind the house to create cover, protect, as if you have an assistant.

Areca tree

According to feng shui, areca is a tree that brings good luck to grow in both the front and back of the house.

Jackfruit tree

According to feng shui, jackfruit tree is a symbol of wisdom, tranquility and resilience, so it is suitable for planting behind the house. However, jackfruit is a large woody tree, so it needs to be planted in a large campus. So, if you want to plant jackfruit behind your home, you should consider carefully.

Plants should not be planted behind the house

Not all plants are suitable for feng shui to grow behind the house. Homeowners should avoid choosing plants that are negative (trees with moody leaves, pointed leaves, many thorns) such as oleander, azalea, Cat Dang, cactus, guava, heaven . Other plants such as willow, hue, si, ban, rice should not be chosen to grow in the back of the house because they are very strong negative plants that do not bring good things into the house.

You finished reading the article "Feng shui tree behind the house brings luck and fortune" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.