1. Meaning of Red Valentine's Day (February 14)

Red Valentine is the traditional Valentine's Day, the day all lovers in the world expect - February 14.

It is said that, in the old days, in Rome, there was a tyrannical and cruel emperor, he thought that married men would become weaker and weaker and could not become good soldiers Therefore, he issued a ban on marriage to ensure the quality of soldiers. At that time, those who wanted to come together felt helpless because of the large barrier wall. The ban is really a great shock to the Roman people. But they dare not speak out against this powerful empire. At that time, the bishop named Valentine recognized the injustice of the ban. He felt the pain of the young lovers, who had hoped for love, about a warm home. Therefore, he secretly planned to oppose this ban. Any couple who want to consider marriage will go to the bishop of Valentine, he will be the host of the secret marriage for the couple. Just like that, he has done a lot of marriages for many couples for a long time.

But grimly, on February 14, 1973 - the day he was executed, it was time for couples to live together forever. And from then on, every year until February 14, people here call it Valentine's Day or Saint Valentine's Day and Bishop Valentine is considered the saint of human love.

There are also places that say that Valentine's Day is the day the girls show their love by giving the boy a pitiful thief to remember a gift. If that boy loves her, the boy will give her a gift on March 14 - White Valentine.

2. Meaning of White Valentine's Day (March 14)

Love always needs freshness every day, we seem to love each other more after gentle dreams, so a Valentine's Day doesn't seem enough. Therefore, in Japan - the land of the rising sun, another Valentine's Day is born and quickly received by young people.

If the Valentine's Day in Japan is for boys, White Day or White Day is for you. This is an opportunity for boys who have received gifts on Valentine's Day to respond to the feelings of girls who gave their gifts.

White Valentine's Day was born as follows: In 1965 in Japan, a man selling marshmallows wanted to respond to the feelings of a girl who had a crush on her and missed her on Valentine's Day, so she gave her a huge, white candy box. like snow. That is also the area of ??White Day.

To this day, White Day gradually gets "transformed" into White Valentine, White Day. On the return day, on this day, there is nothing more meaningful than the fact that you will respond to your beloved daughter all the time with touching, cute and sincere gifts or words.

The White Valentine is a day when the girls want to receive the gift to affirm the love of the boy he loves. On this day, in Japan boys will give girls a white candy or chocolate. In the world, the boys will try to confess their feelings to pay back the expectations and feelings of the girls.

3. Meaning of Black Valentine Day (April 14)

At first glance you would think that this could be a holiday for those who just . broke down because they heard that the name was black? Actually, this is also a holiday originating from Korea for young people who are single (or called "FA Association"), will gather together to organize party to "reward" themselves body as well as create opportunities for yourself.

In the land of Kim Chi, the "Single Association" will invite each other to eat Jajangmyun (black noodles) as a way of "shouting to the world" that "FA" is not necessarily boring.

In fact, it is not until April 14 that young single people have the opportunity to gather together. Even on the days of the Red Valentine (February 14) and the White Valentine (March 14), the association of singles still meet and have fun together. After all, is life fun to enjoy?

In addition to the three main holidays mentioned above, in some countries around the world there are other "14" days such as: January 14th is the diary day (you will say goodbye to the old diary to replace it with a brand new one. page for something new than that); May 14 is the day of the rose / gold day (you will give a single rose to the person who is most important to you) or June 14th is the day of the kiss (you can comfortably kiss the beloved romantic) . For lovers, every day is Valentine.
