

Folded screens in fictional films can be images of future smartphones

The fold screen helps mobile devices to be both compact and have a giant screen for convenient travel. Because of that convenience, long folding screens can bend like newspapers, scrolling like a tape measure ... has appeared a lot in sci-fi movies.

The fold screen helps mobile devices to be both compact and have a giant screen for convenient travel. Because of that convenience, long folding screens can bend like newspapers, scrolling like a tape measure . has appeared a lot in sci-fi movies. Not only do moviegoers enjoy it, they are also devices that predict the future of smartphone development.

The same point through the folding screens in fiction films can be the images of smartphones in the future.

Westworld

This is a device with a triple folding screen commonly found in the most popular sci-fi series lately. In the film, park managers use this device to make phone calls, track GPS locations, edit robot indicators and manage every aspect of the park.

