

Free Wi-Fi hot pot every time it is heated, no need to plug in power or charge battery

The tea pot of Chakra Tea will provide free wifi for workers whenever it is heated without charging or plugging in.

Chai-Fi (Chai in Hindi means tea), a special campaign of Chakra Tea, is being done in India by advertising agency Dentsu Webchutney. Accordingly, the tea pot of Chakra Tea will provide free wifi for workers whenever it is heated without charging or plugging in.

Workers in India often work up to 16-17 hours a day and do not have time to entertain or follow the news. Therefore, Chai-Fi tea pots will help them have little fun in life like watching the World Cup, reading news, calling home . Currently, the famous tea shops in central India are be distributed teapot integrated wifi.

Chai – Fi: Free wifi tea pot for Indian workers.

Co-founder and creative director of Dentsu Webchutney, Sudesh Samaria said Chai-Fi teapot will help to make the workers' rest time become brighter .

See more:

1. The "magic" box can open all kinds of smart door locks in 3 seconds
2. People playing old-fashioned components were born 20 years ago to assemble computers running Windows 98
3. The world's smallest computer, 0.04mm block

You finished reading the article "Free Wi-Fi hot pot every time it is heated, no need to plug in power or charge battery" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
