

Keeping his promises to hard fans that if the 64,000 diamond clip gets the desired number of views, ViruSs will play even bigger. And so now, he is dubbed the 'rich man' when he burned 130,000 diamonds in front of the panicked eyes of the community. Very quickly, ViruSs became the owner of a series of hot items in the latest events in Garena Free Fire: Melody weapons, branded car skins, Gangster style boxes, .

If you don't play it, how can you play 'VirusS' like this?

Garena Free Fire announces the permanent lock of hacking accounts

Garena Free Fire recently announced the identity of thousands of accounts banned from OB21 version to the present time. With this information, the publisher recommends that gamers should not use third-party software or hack games to avoid losing their accounts for nothing. At the same time, it insists that it will continuously upgrade anti-hacking tools and will definitely not miss any case because of a clean and growing game community.

In addition to being strong with hackers, Garena Free Fire also records cases where account holders share and disclose account information to friends and strangers because of hacking. Players can carefully protect their own accounts.

Gamers appreciate and enthusiastically support this action of the publisher because the hacking situation greatly affects the psychology of 'true' players.

Rumors about prime-time Garena Free Fire game 'before the tournament'

Recently, a gamer has posted a accusation accusing Garena Free Fire of not awarding VND 3 million after the end of the tournament of Survival Arena Spring 2020. On the community, this player expressed frustration: 'I was banned for 6 months after my team entered the round of 18 teams, anyone who intends to be a professional gamer should read, post to group and then be deleted, . Tournaments from December before Tet until now have not seen send 'money' to the prize, while other teams will receive it forever. 3 million  worth it, but it is famous for a big game that is doing poorly professional, appointment up and down, appointment from month to month '.

This information immediately received much attention from the community. However, this is only a one-sided opinion from the gamer and according to information from Garena Free Fire, the team that competed due to the rules should have been banned. The full text from the publisher is as follows:

'This player belongs to GPB Gaming team who participated in the qualifying round of the Survival Arena in the spring of 2020 in Hanoi, got 1 ticket to the Spring Split, but during the inspection process, the team had 2 members plowed - violated on the award rules should be banned. On the Free Fire side, there was time for the team to decide to move on, but the team did not respond, there was one member who reported not participating anymore so the team was replaced with another team with the rank immediately after. that team.

After that, the Garena Free Fire side rewarded qualifying teams for going, including gamers' GPB Gaming team, with a value of 3 million VND. This award is divided equally among 4 team members, but 3/4 members do not have an account number so they will receive it in the form of ID card '.

At the same time, the publisher has recommended that this type of award usually occur, which discourages players from receiving awards in this way. And when an error occurs, the player does not seem to receive the information, and it is difficult for Garena to contact them.
