Free Fire Max - a graphic enhanced version of Free Fire, the most downloaded mobile game in 2019, will be released by Garena in the near future. Free Fire Max will have a more enhanced graphics background and image quality, promising to bring gamers a more realistic experience.

The launch of Garena Free Fire is a graphically enhanced version of Garena Free Fire which is considered a necessary move because smartphones are currently developing on increasing hardware power, allowing users to experience the game with more beautiful graphics. The graphics of Free Fire is currently incomparable with other Battle Royale shooters of the same genre as PUBG Mobile and Call of Duty: Mobile. If Garena does not release an enhanced version like Free Fire Max it is very difficult to keep the player.

According to the Free Fire Club, the resolution, stability and effect details in Free Fire Max will be significantly improved. The player's current Free Fire account, including the costume and rank, will be kept and synchronized with Free Fire Max when this game is launched.

Currently, the official launch date of Free Fire Max or the list of devices compatible with this game has not been revealed.

Free Fire Max is currently being tested on Android. The trial version of Free Fire Max is only 1GB, but this may not be the size of the full version.
