

Genshin Impact: Top 4 hidden quests in Enkanomiya that you might have missed

Enkanomiya is a new area that appeared in Genshin Impact 2.4 and contains many hidden World Quests for gamers to explore.

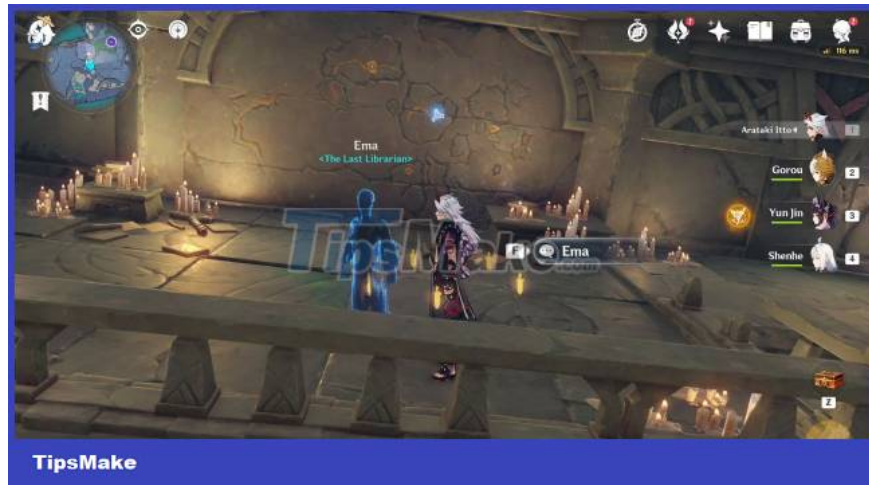

Lotus Eater

The Lotus Eater is a hidden quest that can only be unlocked when the Genshin Impact player activates the signs inside a cave beneath The Serpent's Heart. Next, you need to follow the blue guide walls and go through the wall following the signs to find an afterimage NPC.

This NPC will trigger the quest and gamers can follow the navigation until the end of the mission, where they need to water the Dragonbone flowers. Then wait until the next day to receive the Dragonbone orb and complete the quest.

Collections of Dragons and Snakes

This quest unlocks an area of the secret mirror library and rewards the player with a Rare Chest. You can start this world quest by talking to a librarian in The Narrows.

During the quest, gamers need to collect 5 books scattered around the Enkanomiya area. Four of them are locked after another world quest, while the other is purchasable from Yae Publishing in Inazuma.

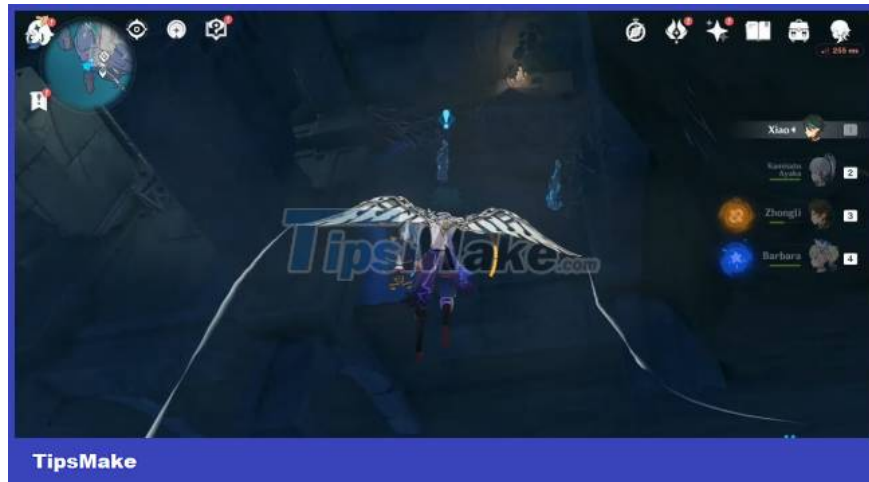

The Phaethons' Syrto

The Phaethons' Syrto quest unlocks a secret achievement called "The Children of God Shall Dance" and can only be activated after the player talks to an NPC inside a barrier of two Spirits in Evernight Temple.

This task is relatively easy because gamers only need to provide Sango Gems to 7 royal tombs and the locations of these tombs are marked on the map.

Antigonus

Antigonus is a relatively short world quest where the player simply needs to find an NPC and defeat the Ruin Guard. However, the location to start the quest can be quite difficult to find as you need to jump off the cliff from Dainichi Mikoshi and surf to the platform lying below it.
