

Gmail has 'magic mailbox'?

'Magic Inbox' will prioritize and organize e-mails of frequently contacted or friends' addresses to the top of the mailbox.

The giant's webmail is constantly being upgraded with new features. 'Magic Inbox' will prioritize and organize e-mails of frequently contacted or friends' addresses to the top of the mailbox .

Blogger Alex Chitou has discovered a new function called 'Magic Inbox' that is about to be released by Google. This blogger praised Gmail's new feature on the Google Operating System diary page.

'Wonder mailbox' will prioritize e-mails sent from e-mail addresses or friends or senders. And, Magic Inbox can sort emails by importance, and can also keep messages sent in outbox, allowing users to send them at a later time.

var jsb="Sort by priority",ksb="edit",lsb=
'" ,wP=

,jr);var nsb="All conversations have been delivered.",osb="The conversation has been delivered.",psb=" conversations have been delivered.";oob[j].Vj=function $TY(){var a;a= this.ek()?nsb:this.Jl()?osb:lr(this)[n]+psb;
