

Going on the wrong road, the rat snake is re-eaten by the tiger with the lord

With the poison secreted in a single bite that claimed the lives of 30 adults, the king cobra easily killed and fed the small prey.

The tiger bear god is the longest venomous snake in the world. In nature, it has been recorded that individuals are up to 7m long. 'Giant' size, deadly venom and innate hunting instincts, the tiger god is the fear of many animals.

1. Picking rats back in the wilderness, but after a few minutes the rattlesnakes have to die in pain
2. The mighty rooster swallowed the dramatic king cobra to protect the herd

God-bearing tigers often hunt other snakes, even their mates. When food is scarce, small vertebrates like lizards and rodents cannot avoid the sad outcome!

Cobra.

The victim this time of the king tiger is the rat snake, the small snake that specializes in rodent hunting. Rat snakes have no toxicity, their food is small rodents, mainly mice. They are neither poisonous nor large, which is why rats are prey to many other snakes in the wild.

Mouse snakes do not have poison.

With the poison secreted in a single bite that claimed the lives of 30 adults, the king cobra easily killed and fed the small prey.

You finished reading the article "Going on the wrong road, the rat snake is re-eaten by the tiger with the lord" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.