

Good tips to help you remove shoe odor effectively

The following 10 extremely effective tips on deodorizing shoes will help you feel more confident and comfortable when you go out.

Foot odor caused by wearing rain shoes or walking a lot in closed shoes during hot weather makes your feet become foul or smell like dead mice making you and everyone around you uncomfortable, making friends lose confidence, shame in front of people.

Therefore, the following article will share with you some good tips to fly that unpleasant smell now so that you don't have to waste money replacing new shoes and your friends. Here are different ways that can help you solve this problem.

1. Mix foot soak to eliminate bad smell and prevent leg fatigue effectively
2. A simple way to help your body retain its natural fragrance all day long

1. Dry shoes before sunshine or a heater

If on that day you go in the rain or wet the shoes, the best way to reduce the bad smell is that you should expose them to the sun, remove the shoelaces, pull the tongue of the shoe up to let the shoes dry. faster. Keeping your shoes dry is that you have contributed to limiting the proliferation of bacteria - the main cause of unpleasant odors.

2. Put shoes in the freezer compartment

For those shoes that smell bad, you should put them in a locked bag and close it, put it in the freezer compartment and leave it overnight, then bring it to normal thawing in the sun to prevent odors. . This way has not been proven to be effective, but most people have tried and gave very good comments. However, there are some opinions that this method is only a temporary measure to handle the odor. However, you should also try once to see if you are right?

3. Use children's chalk

If you don't have a lot of time, you can absolutely use this way. You take a little bit of children's chalk and then sprinkle it in shoes and you can use it all, the chalk is very good at dehumidifying and deodorizing the shoes very effectively. Please try it.

4. Deodorize the shoes with orange, lemon, grapefruit peels

Oranges, lemons, grapefruit are extremely familiar fruits for everyone, not only that the peels of these fruits are also useful in reducing the bad smell of shoes, because in these types are contains an amount of acid to help kill all fungi and bacteria, besides it also has an amount of essential oils to help dispel the smell extremely effective. You only need to remove the skin and cut it into thin slices to rub around the surface of the shoe and let it dry naturally overnight. The next morning, you will find the shoes smellless and still keep the cool scent

5. Put a few drops of lavender essential oil into your shoe

Usually most families have a bottle of essential oil to help scent the room. In addition, the essential oil also helps to eliminate the bad smell of shoes and feet because these essential oils have anti-bacterial properties, can deodorize and also have a pleasant smell so be small in shoes or feet One to two drops you have a very pleasant fragrance.

6. Use alcohol solution

For stains from cotton fibers, alcohol cannot be completely cleaned. However, alcohol is very useful for eliminating unpleasant odors in shoes, giving you a new, aromatic shoe. Alcohol is a fast-drying antiseptic so you don't have to worry about the smell of alcohol left in your shoes. When you mix alcohol and other alcoholic solutions, evaporate as usual.

7. Use cat litter for cats

Using cat litter for cats may sound strange but in fact this is an extremely effective way to help you blow away the bad smell of the shoes, because it has excellent deodorant features. How to do it is very simple, you just need to pour the sand to the unused cat in a clean sock, fasten the head, stuff it into the shoe and leave it overnight.

8. Use water and vinegar

You mix distilled water and white vinegar in a 1: 1 ratio. Keep this mixture in the lining and the soles of the shoe then let it dry for about 30 minutes. You can also use a hair dryer if you are in a hurry and want to quickly dry your shoes. Then put baking soda into shoes and leave it overnight.

9. Replace shoe soles

Sometimes shoe soles are also the cause of shoe odor, so choose new shoe pads made of cotton or shoe pads with activated carbon to help deodorize extremely good foul shoes.

When not wearing shoes, you should remove the shoe pads to remove the odor to dry out, if it smells you should replace the new shoe pads.

10. Paper for crumbling or tea and coffee residue

Newspapers seem to be worthless and will often be put in a trash basket or cooked for cooking, and it has excellent use in moisture absorption. So, crumple old newspapers and put them into your two shoes, leave them overnight until the next morning get them out, when your shoes are dehumidified and dry, The bacteria that cause shoe odor will disappear. Not only that, the newspaper also helps you to keep your shoes in shape, a job sometimes does not.

For coffee grounds and tea residues, you should dry them dry before putting them in a thin sock for shoes to suck the smell and bacteria.

Good luck!

You finished reading the article "Good tips to help you remove shoe odor effectively" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.
