In addition to information on specs like owning Snapdragon 400 (APQ8026) processor, 512MB RAM, 4GB of storage and 400mAh battery, PhoneArena also said that LG G Watch will be sold on July 7. next.

This smartwatch will also be released at the Google I / O conference and will be used as a gift for conference participants. Expected G Watch will have lower prices than its competitors, and even lower than the Samsung Galaxy Gear 2 Neo.

Under the plan, LG G Watch will be announced along with Motorola Moto 360 at Google I / O, and will be released soon after. But there are rumors that another manufacturer will also introduce new Android Wear devices at Google I / O this year. A lot of guesses are that it's ASUS.
