

Google first put smiley in Gmail

The nuanced visual appearance has been in Google Chat for a long time, but now the US search service company complements their webmail

The nuanced expression has appeared in Google Chat for a long time but now the US search service company has added to their webmail, which has a "shocking" icon for users.

Smiley / Emoticon animation and images are most popular among netizens (highlighted).

Smiley / Static Emoticon looks softer.

Not only are the familiar static or moving images, e-mail is also equipped with many new symbols like crabs (referring to someone like crabs), glass of smoothies . Also to express anger, Users can choose . waste piles with two buzzing flies around.

" The days of e-mail in black and white are over and your email now contains more colorful images, " wrote Darren Lewis, a Google engineer.

Recently, in Gmail, there is also the auto-reply feature of Canned Responses, which allows to pre-edit the reply content for nearly identical emails.

Go to Canned Responses to select the previously edited e-mail.

When you receive a new message, users only need to access Canned Responses to get the reply section without wasting time retyping. To activate this tool, go to Settings , select Labs , navigate to Canned Responses , click Enable , then click Save Changes .

You finished reading the article "Google first put smiley in Gmail" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.