

Google has just revealed the price of Pixel 4a and Pixel 5, surprisingly cheap

The Pixel 4a and Pixel 5 will be much cheaper than last year's Pixel 3a and Pixel 4.

After the first two Pixel smartphones with much success, Google seemed to lose its form and make things worse. The Pixel 4 was underestimated, and the failures that caused the people behind the impressive Pixel camera algorithm technology of the Pixel smartphones to leave the company.

However, Google is intending to return strongly this year. Especially with the mid-range Pixel 4a smartphone, promising to be an Android smartphone priced at the most attractive performance. Because the Pixel 4a will cost less than the $ 399 Pixel of Pixel 3a. Recently, Google seems to have revealed pricing information for both Pixel 4a and Pixel 5.

A member of the Reddit forum shared a screenshot of a Google survey, and it revealed that the price of the Pixel 4a is from $ 349 and the Pixel 5 is from $ 699.

However, this leaked image does not exactly mention the names of these two smartphones. It only mentions a smartphone with a plastic case and 3.5mm jack. There is another high-end smartphone with advanced camera technology, water resistance and wireless charging.

The survey seems to gather users' opinions, to see if they prefer mid-range smartphones or higher-end smartphones. Perhaps Google is worried when launching Pixel 4a and Pixel 5, the low-cost smartphone will attract more consumers, causing sales of high-end smartphones to drop.

If these were your only options, which of these Google Pixel smartphones would you prefer to buy?

The Pixel 4a will cost from $ 349, but the storage is up to 128GB instead of the standard 64GB. The competitor is the iPhone SE 2020, which costs $ 399, but only comes in at 64GB. Last year, the Pixel 3a also sold for $ 399.

This year's Pixel 5 will not use Qualcomm's most advanced processor, Snapdragon 865, instead of Snapdragon 768G. It will also not have the same radar sensor as the Pixel 4. Perhaps so, the price of the Pixel 5 is $ 100 cheaper than its predecessor.

However, the Pixel 5 will still be equipped with advanced technologies such as algorithmic cameras, wireless charging, compatible Android operating system, support for 5G network and experience like a high-end smartphone.
