

GPS20C - Bluetooth standard positioning device (GPS)

Recently, Japanese company IBS has introduced a global positioning device based on Bluetooth 2.0 communication standard ...

Recently, the Japanese company IBS has introduced a global positioning device according to Bluetooth 2.0 interface with small size and ability to withstand in a relatively harsh temperature environment called GPS20C.

The IBS GPS20C device is compatible with Windows, Windows Mobile and BlackBerry devices. GPS20C is equipped with SiRF star III chip, and Bluetooth 2.0 communication standard. GPS20C provides a sensitivity of up to 159dBm. Can receive up to 20 channels and is capable of working at temperatures from -20 ° C to + 60 ° C.

GPS20C is 39x33x19mm in size, the weight of this device is 28g and is sold for about 50 Euro.

You finished reading the article "GPS20C - Bluetooth standard positioning device (GPS)" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.