

Great Android apps for English Premier League followers

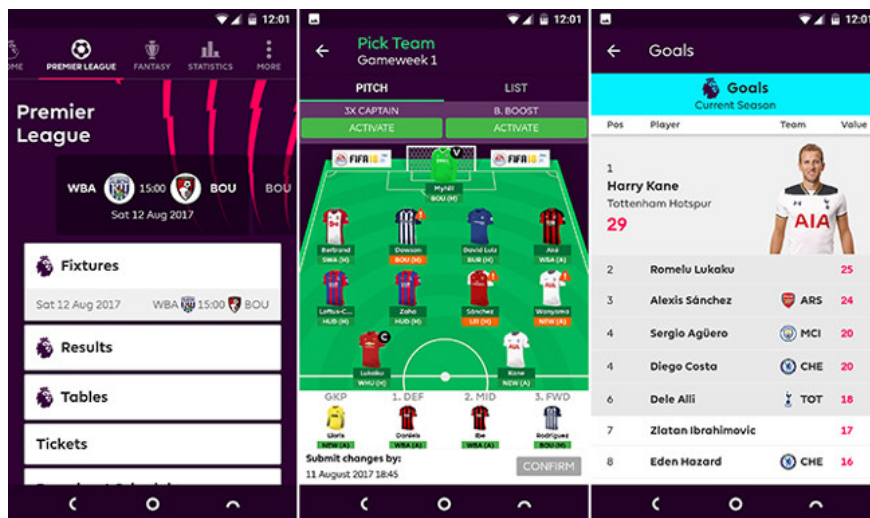

A new Premier League football season is coming and there are many ways to follow this planet's biggest football tournament like watching TV, web and football games and apps on Play. Store. Surely many people will be confused about which applications to download among hundreds of other apps on Play Store. So, to solve the worries of many football fans, let's take a look at 10 Android apps to follow the Premier League Football League.

A new Premier League football season is coming and there are many ways to follow this planet's biggest football tournament like watching TV, web and football games and apps on Play. Store. Surely many people will be confused about which applications to download among hundreds of other apps on Play Store. So, to solve the worries of many football fans, let's take a look at 10 Android apps to follow the Premier League Football League.

1. Guide to watching football tournaments through the Internet
2. Guide to watching football on Sopcast Android

1. Premier League

Official applications are often perceived to be far behind apps provided by third party, but the Premier League is truly a surprising application. It provides and quickly updates all information about the Premier League such as schedule, player information, technical management and arbitration, results, group stage, etc.

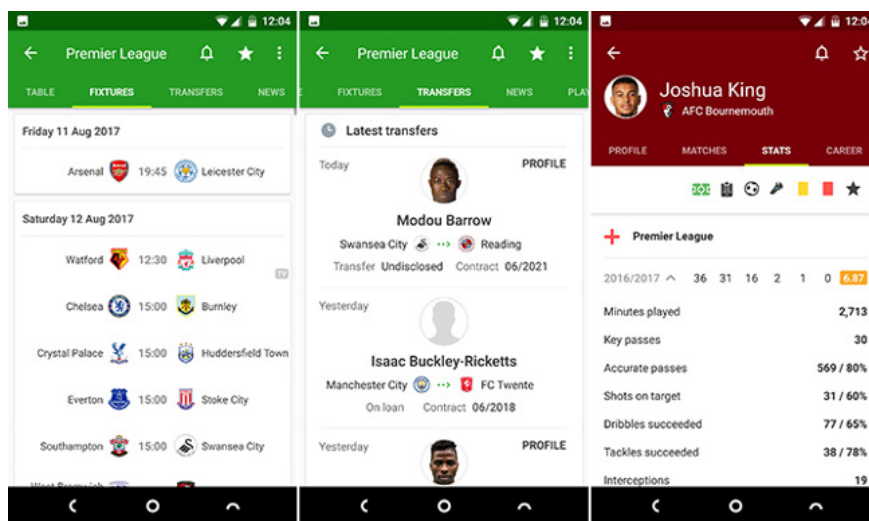

The Premier League is actually one of the most famous Fantasy League games. This is your chance to manage virtual teams in the Premier League Football League.

Download : Premier League (Free)

2. FotMob

There are many applications that announce match results on Play Store but FotMob is the best choice. It is not only limited to the English Premier League, but it also supports more professional soccer leagues in the world such as World Cup, Bundesliga, Champions League, etc. By using filtering function You can find out information related to your favorite team and season.

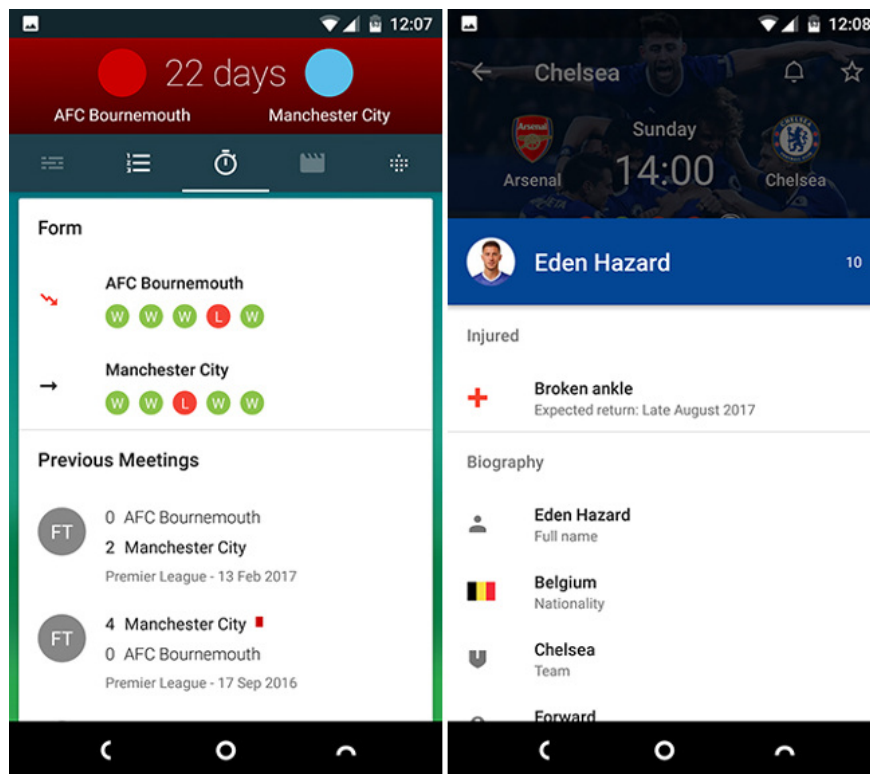

In addition to providing basic results and statistics about each game, you can also view live comments from football experts, information taken from multiple sources (and you can configure them to view only the items of interest), TV showtimes in all countries and even betting.

Download : FotMob (Free)

3. Forza Football

If FotMob provides too much information you need, Forza Football can be a better option. It focuses mostly on single matches instead of trying to become a "comprehensive" football app. You will receive up to date information on team selection and injured players, real-time statistics on matches.

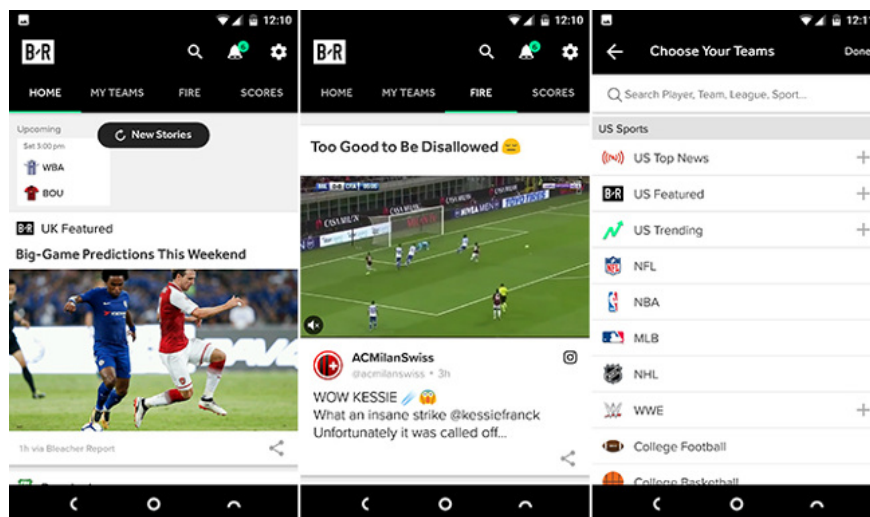

Forza is one of those football apps that has a nice interface and is easy to set up. On this application you can vote for the team you think will win.

Download : Forza Football (Free)

4. Bleacher Report

Why use many different applications when you can follow all your favorite sports in a single application. With Bleacher Report you can follow the Premier League Football League with professional basketball tournament (NBA), professional baseball league (MLB) and Formula 1 racing (F1).

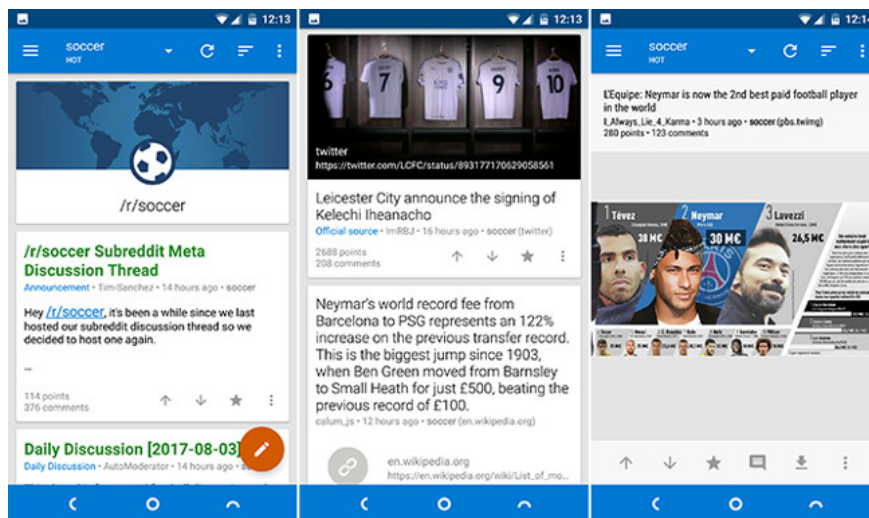

The app provides results, schedules and relevant news and events about tournaments. You can set up only receive notifications of information related to the tournament you are interested in.

Download : Bleacher Report (Free)

5. Sync for reddit

Reddit is a great place to follow the Premier League Football League. This is an application used to browse popular reddit pages. The optimization / r / soccer feature lets you view scorecards, rescue shots and other comments.

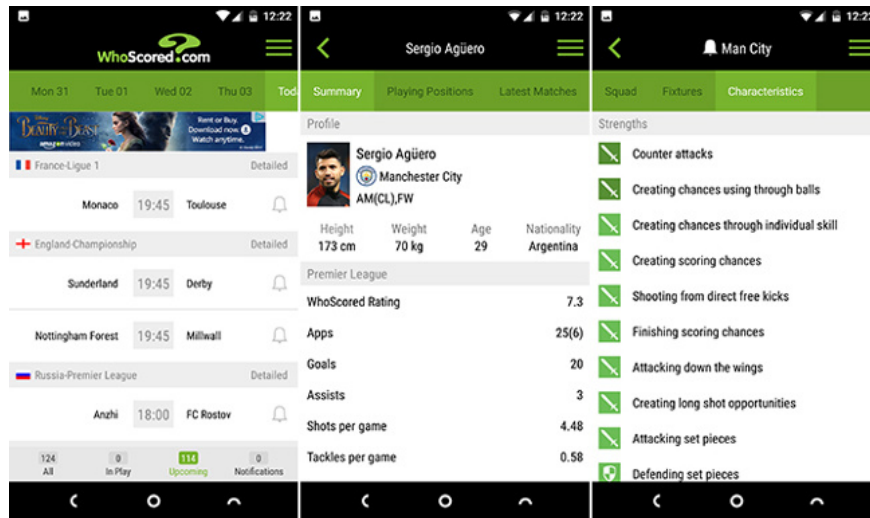

Above all, there are subreddits for most teams. The popularity of each subreddit varies based on the size of the club, but this is a good way to discuss appropriate topics while avoiding the jokes of anti-fans. Sync for reddit is a fast, powerful and easy to use application.

Download : Sync for reddit (Free)

6. WhoScored Football application

WhoScored.com is the best free website that provides information about Premier League Football Release. The Football WhoScored application will transfer data directly from the website to your phone.

You can see everything you want to know, such as information about a team or any player with the awards, top 11 players of the week, month and season, etc.

Download: WhoScored Football App (Free)

7. Lineup11

If you participate in conversations on football fans and Twitter forums, you will often see people sharing pictures that illustrate team formation in a match. Lineup11 is the application you need to accomplish this.

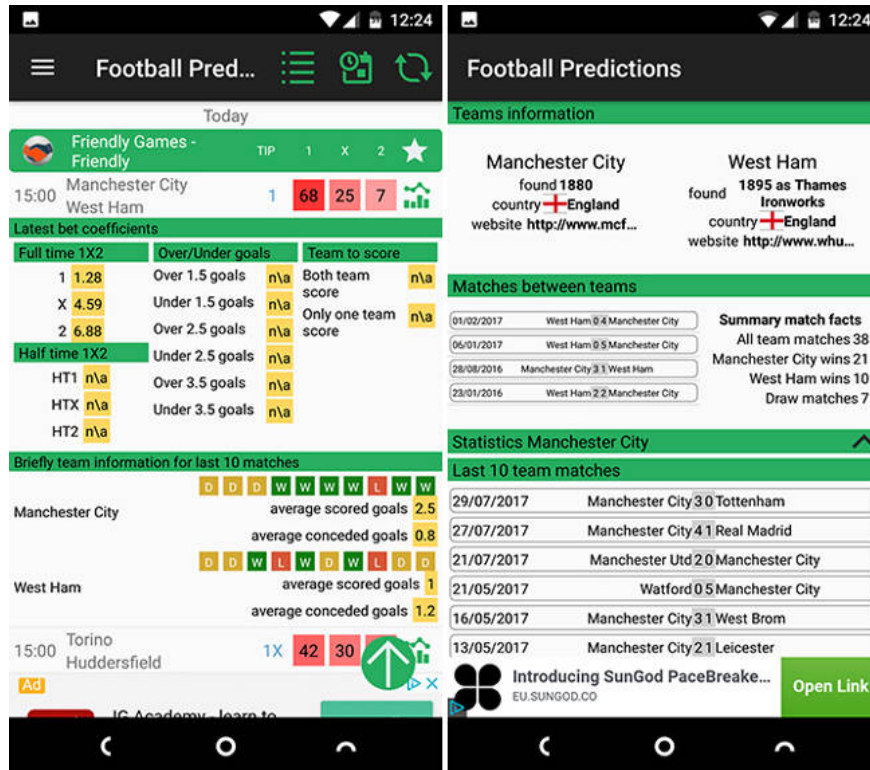

Just create a team, choose a style (with more than 2,000 designs), a lineup and then add players. When done, save it and you can upload it to Facebook, Twitter or Instagram.

Download: Lineup11 (Free)

8. Football Prediction

Football Prediction collects information to answer the question: Who will win in a match?

By combining data, results of previous matches and news about players participating in the match, the application will give you a forecast of the outcome of each match at a percentage of probability. The home team wins, the away team or ends the match with a draw.

Download: Football Prediction (Free)

9. FM Mobile 2017

Based on the legendary Football Manager game on the computer, Football Manager Mobile 2017 allows you to take full control of your club, such as choosing tactics, changing people, deciding who plays on the field, who sits on the bench . FM Mobile 2017 is undoubtedly one of the best football games for Android.

Download: FM Mobile 2017 (Paid)

You finished reading the article "Great Android apps for English Premier League followers" edited by the TipsMake team. We hope this article has provided you with many useful tech tips and tricks. You can search for similar articles on tips and guides. Thank you for reading and for following us regularly.