Dinkum is a life simulation game with a novel setting on cute graphics. Players will need to find resources, grow crops and raise livestock to build a life in their own land.

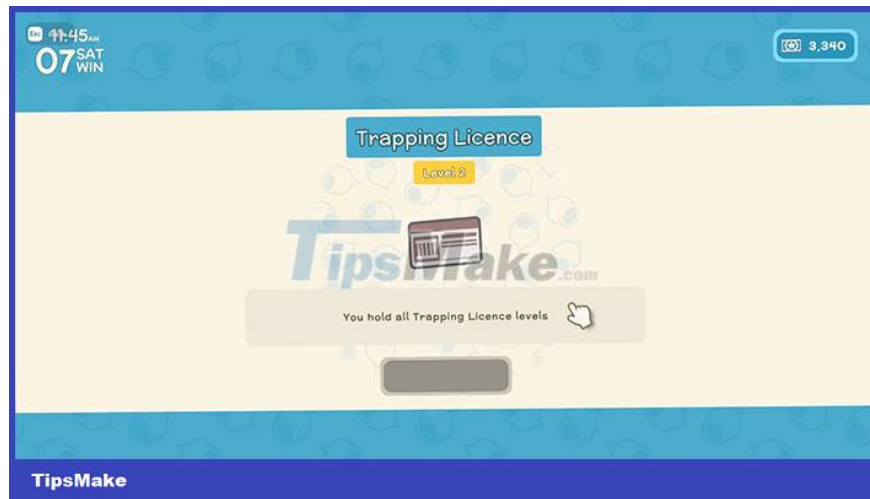

Over time, from living in a hut, gamers will become the head of a large community built by themselves. The road to having your own town will be long and arduous, requiring players to do a lot of things to conquer the outback and become the last survivor.

Animal traps and owls are jobs that help players earn money, develop in the game. Fishing and catching bugs are two early game activities that help gamers accumulate money in a simple way and require absolutely no resources. With the following guide to trapping animals and fishing in Dinkum, players will easily accumulate money to buy supplies and equipment needed for development in the game.

Instructions on how to trap animals in Dinkum

First of all, to trap animals, the player needs to get the Trapper License from Fletch. This license is obtained by progressing through the game and unlocking licenses.

Next, gamers need to create a trap on the desk. A simple Simple Anime Trap requires materials including 1 Tin Bar, 8 Mangrove Sticks, and 1 Old Spring.

Whereas Animal Trap needs 1 Iron Bar, 1 Hard Wood Plank and 2 Old Spring.

Next, attack the animal that everyone is trying to trap to reduce its health.

Then train it towards the trap and run on top of the trap. Everyone should be aware that if the animal's health is not low enough, it will rush out and attack.

Also, some animals run away from the player when health is low, so chase down and set traps in front of them.

Guide to fishing in Dinkum

Fishing is one of the activities that beginners Dinkum should make the most of to earn money in the game. With the fish caught, when sold, the player will receive money back. During the first hours, spend part of the fishing time to accumulate money for the later part of the game. This can be tedious for some people, especially since there's so much to do, but these activities can be quite enjoyable and relaxing when the right rhythm is found.

To fish in Dinkum, use a fishing rod and go to the water area. Then release the bait and wait for the fish to bite.

When the water surface looks like this, click the left mouse button only once.

Now that the fish is going into frenzy, you can spam the left mouse button to spin the lever faster or else wait for the fish to calm down.

Once the fish has calmed down, people can pull the rod before it goes into a state of constant fighting.
